ASK BOARD FOR DRUG INQUIRY

Commission Chosen by Governor to Report on Effectiveness of Present Laws Is Sought

An investigation by a special commission with the purpose of suppressing the use of habit-forming drugs in Massachusetts is provided in a resolve filed with the Legislature by Representative Charles F. Rowley of Brookline.

As a result of this action the anti-drug crusade has taken a formal and definite course.

The resolve provides for the appointment by the Governor of a commission of three members, one of whom would be the head of a department of the State Department of Health and another of whom would be a district-attorney of the Commonwealth.

The commission would be instructed to investigate "the extent of the use of habit-forming drugs in this Commonwealth and the effectiveness of the present laws intended to regulate and to prevent the ever-increasing use of the same."

As the time for filing bills has expired, the Committee on Rules will meet on Monday to consider the advisability of admitting the resolve under suspension of the rules. When the bill is admitted it will be referred to the Committee on Public Health or public hearings.

State Commissioner of Health McLaughlin has indorsed the movement. He believes important additions can be made to the existing drug laws.

Representative Rowley, who filed the resolve, is one of the most prominent Republican members of the House. He is clerk of the Committee on Rules, which is popularly known as the "Speaker's Cabinet," and is a member of the Committee on Taxation. He is now engaged in a vigorous crusade to abate the evils of the loan-shark system.

Christiana, April 14.—The Scandinavian-American liner United States, which arrived today from New York, reported that she had been held up by a British warship and one thousand bags of mail seized.

Berlin, April 14 (via Sayville wireless).—Eighty merchant ships whose total tonnage was 207,000 were sunk by German submarines or mines during the month of March, it was announced today by the Admiralty.

London, April 14.—The unarmed British steamer Orlock Head, 1,186 tons, has been sunk. The steamer plied between Spanish and English ports.

A dispatch from Majorca says the Norwegian bark Primus, 1,019 tons, which sailed from Montevideo for England last October, is believed to have been destroyed in the Atlantic with all its crew.

ENGLAND PAYS U. S. PACKERS $17,000,000

By International News Service.

London, April 14.—Restitution for the seizure of $17,000,000 in goods shipped abroad by American packers was made by the British government today following the settlement of the cases in the prize court.

The Armour, Swift, Hammond and Morris companies were represented by Chandler P. Anderson. Lloyd Griscom represented Schwarzschild & Sulzberger.

The seized foodstuffs made up the cargoes of thirty-four ships. Most of the goods had been consigned to Denmark and Holland, though some was on its way to Norway and Sweden.

HAVANA FIGHT FILM ORDERED SEIZED

Washington, April 14.—The Treasury Department today notified Dudley Field Malone, collector of customs at New York, to seize the Johnson-Willard prize fight pictures now on exhibition there.

The original pictures of the Havana fight were recently taken to the Canadian border and then photographed from the United States side to get around the law prohibiting their importation into the United States.

RAIN HALTS SOX; BIG CLEVELAND DEAL COMPLETE

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

The rain of last night continued this forenoon, making the playing field at Fenway Park too wet for a game to be considered, and, as the downpour gave no evidence of letting up, the game between the World's Champion Red Sox and the Athletics was called off. It will be played as part of a double-header on June 23, which is the opening day of the Athletics' second series here.

The announcement was made today that the deal with the Cleveland club, whereby Tris Speaker went there for $50,000 and two players, had been completed. The Boston club gets Pitcher Sam P. Jones, a right-hander, and Third Baseman Fred Thomas, who came up to the Cleveland club from the New Orleans club. This youngster has a good record, and both Manager Bill Carrigan and President Lannin feel that he will develop into just what they need in reserve.

Last season he batted for .266 and fielded for .973, playing in 139 games of ball. He made 15 two-baggers, 12 three-baggers and 11 home runs. His total was 223 bases. He stole 52 bases and made 18 sacrifice hits. In the fielding line he got 153 putouts and 307 assists, with 23 errors, which shows him to have been a rather active player.

FULL TEAM IN LINE.

All the Champions are now in fine shape for the game, which will be played tomorrow if weather permits. The regular lineup will be presented, with Duffy Lewis in left field, Walker in centre and Hooper in right. Hoblitzell will be on first.

Manager Carrigan has a convertable infield, as well as an outfield, as shown in yesterday's game and he may switch with the change in the Athletics' pitching staff.

Connie Mack will make a change in his team due to the fact that Crane is just now suffering from a bad case of "charlie horse." He will use Witt, the young man who went up in the pinch in the first game, in that position and will lead off his batting order with him, taking the catcher out and putting him down to eighth position.

U-BOAT CRISIS IS ACUTE

Action by Washington Within Forty-eight Hours Unless Berlin Makes Big Concessions

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 14.—Action in the German submarine controversy will be taken within forty-eight hours. Before doing so, however, President Wilson will confer with the members of the Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committee. He will simply tell them in advance what he plans to do and will not ask them to advise him.

Officials made it very plain this afternoon after the cabinet meeting was over that the situation was extremely critical. The cabinet considered the German and Mexican situations for more than two hours.

It is understood that the President stated that in view of the evidence at hand, showing that Germany has violated her pledges to conduct her submarine warfare in accordance with international law, this government cannot longer maintain friendly diplomatic relations with her.

Officials declared that unless extreme concessions are made by Germany within a very brief period, Ambassador Gerard will be recalled and Count von Bernstorff handed his passports.

The attack on the Channel steamer Sussex, the President believes, was so flagrant and unwarranted that it cannot be excused. The denial, the text of which was considered carefully at today's cabinet, is declared to have been "complete proof" that the Sussex was torpedoed without warning and is an "insult to the intelligence of a great nation."

There will be another communication sent to Germany. It will set

Tango Elopers Shunned By Parents; Forced to Live in Humble Fashion

Earl R. Fisher and his bride, who was Ruth E. Livernois of Southbridge. Mrs. Fisher's $100 weekly allowance stopped with her marriage.

Providence, April 14—Shunned by parents and obliged to start their wedded life in a furnished room on 1st Washington street, Earl R. Fisher, the tango dancer, and his bride, formerly Miss Ruth E. Livernois of southbridge, Mass., say they are prepared to "fight the world together" after their meteoric runaway marriage in Greenwich, Ct., April 3.

Fisher tells of incidents connected with their midnight honeymoon ride from New York to Greenwich, accompanied by Miss Crystal Shepard and Jay Howard of New York.

The cutting off of the bride's allowance of $100 a week does not worry the couple, who say they can earn a livelihood.

"We can dance and make money," quoted the bride.

The marriage is said to have broken the heart of a department store official, who, it is said on examination of his books by police authority, was making preparations to marry Miss Livernois.

Fisher is spunking up courage to meet the parents of the young woman at Southbridge.

"We must face it sooner or later, so I am getting my nerve together for the ordeal," said Fisher.

"We are happy as can be, fortunately," said Fisher, as he strolled toward the couch upon which his bride was seated.

"What's true, isn't it, dear?" he continued, as he kissed his wife.

"You bet we are," added Mrs. Fisher, and what is more, our love is endless, and no one can separate us."

GERMANS PLANT NEW MINES IN BALTIC

Copenhagen, April 14.—The German Admiralty apparently expects that British naval forces will make an effort to pass into the Baltic Sea. To prevent this, a new German mine field has been laid in the southern part of the Sound, between Drogdene lightship and Falsterbo.

FIFTH ARREST IN 'ARSON TRUST' INQUIRY

Joseph Tomlinson was arrested today on a secret indictment, charged with setting fire to a house owned by William A. Isaac, March 20.

This is the fifth arrest in connection with the so-called "arson trust," recently exposed by the Suffolk Grand Jury, which returned indictments yesterday.

Tomlinson and four men arrested yesterday were today arraigned before Judge Hardy in the Superior Court. All pleaded not guilty. Each was held in $5,000 for trial, the same as bonds for the other defendants.

The Grand Jury is still engaged in investigating evidence of so-called arson and of alleged firebugs.

PERSHING SCATTERS BANDITS

Villistas Are Suspected of Attack on the Motor Cars with Advance Guard of the American Troops

General Pershing's Camp at the Front, April 12, via Aeroplane to Chihuahua City and Telegraph to El Paso, Tex., Junction, April 14.—An automobile supply train of the United States military forces was attacked last night by forty mounted Villistas, but they were driven off by American soldiers. One Mexican was killed, but the Americans suffered no casualties.

By L. V. B. RUCKER,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

San Antonio, Texas, April 14.—That General Pershing is hurrying to Parral to take charge of the situation created by Mexican citizens firing upon American troops was the opinion expressed at Fort Sam Houston today.

Major-General Funston said that he had received no word from Pershing for three days and expected to receive no definite information on the Parral battle until the commanding officer is able to report the details and facts.

There will be considerable activity at Fort Sam Houston until the last of the 500 cavalrymen ordered to the battle at Parral is known.

Unconfirmed and unofficial reports indicate that they were caught in a trap, but whether they succeeded in escaping or are surrounded is not known.

Official Mexican advices state that the conflict was renewed Thursday night. If these are correct the American losses probably found themselves besieged on all sides and resulted to make a fight rather than run the gauntlet of snipers that would be emboldened by signs of retreat.

If Major Tompkins and his men were trapped in Parral help may have reached them before this, as entry into Parral probably would not have been made unless an opposition existed.

Parral probably would not have been made unless an opposition existed. Reports were closely following.

On inquiry advanced here today was that Major Tompkins had been in

PERSHING CABINET TAKES UP DEMAND

McLemore Offers a Resolve in the House to Keep the American Army on Trail of Bandit Villa

Washington, April 14.—A resolution directing the President to continue the present expedition in Mexico until "Francisco Villa has been captured or killed," was introduced in the House today by Representative McLemore of Texas. The resolution would authorize the President to call for volunteers if that became necessary to reinforce the troops already in Mexico.

Representative McLemore was the author of the resolution warning Americans off belligerent ships, which caused the clash between President Wilson and Congress on the German submarine issue.

Washington, April 14.—The United States will not withdraw its troops from Mexico.

Provisional President Carranza will be notified within the next few days that this government will not change its announced policy to "get Villa."

He will be frankly told that the present expedition now in Mexico is a friendly one.

But he also will be told that this government under no circumstances will turn over the task of capturing or killing the bandits who murdered American citizens in their homes in Columbus, N. M., to the Mexican troops.

This was decided at today's Cabinet meeting. The action was taken after it was unanimously canvassed. In the absence of details of the fighting at Parral no decision was arrived at as to whether Carranza is to be held responsible for the attack. It is understood that official notes sent to this government asking that the American forces withdraw should be answered in positive terms.

It is understood that the members of the Cabinet are behind President Wilson and his note can take care of themselves, no matter what may happen. They are convinced that the developments are at strategic points in Mexico and that the country is behind the President in the event that the Americans are attacked.

LONDON SEES MEXICAN COMPLICATIONS.

London, April 14.—The Evening News, in commenting upon developments in Mexico, says that if war results between Mexico and the United States it may have a far-reaching effect on the world's history. Complications of the gravest kind may result, the paper adds.

formed by Mexicans that Villa was hiding in Parral.

The result of the Parral affair has been the cutting of red tape to permit free action by the army. General Funston had been given authority to. This will make little change at present, but will be of vast importance in case of serious developments.

General Attack by Mexicans Feared

El Paso, Texas, April 14.—Fear of a general Mexican rising and attack upon American troops such as dyed crimson the plaza at Parral brought a new tension today to the already menacing situation that confronts the American expedition and the international relations of the United States and Mexico.

The military element in Mexico is again in the saddle. Official advices from Mexico City state that First Chief Carranza has arrived there from Queretaro on his way to Vera Cruz, whence he will proceed to Yucatan. He has issued a decree calling upon the Mexican people to show calmness in the new crisis that has arrived, but in Carranza's absence Generals Alvaro Obregon, his Minister of War, and General Candido Aguilar, Foreign Minister, will conduct the government.

To the opportunities of these two leaders, both ambitious, is attributed the de facto government's demand for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico. Observers on the border assert that with Carranza away and Obregon and Aguilar directing Mexican affairs the situation will not brook of long diplomatic negotiations.

REPORT NEW ATTACK.

Reports as to the battle at Parral, which began when "snipers" opened fire upon American soldiers who were escorting the request of Mayor Jose Delas Luz Herrera to leave the town, were still conflicting today. Most of them were to the effect that one American soldier had been killed and twenty wounded and many Mexicans killed.

Rumor had it 150 Mexicans had been killed.

Closely following the news of the Parral battle came rumors that an American force had clashed with a body of Mexican troops near the Troya on the railway between Jiminez and Parral. This rumor said that the Mexicans were mostly Carranzistas, and that the Troya clash preceded the fight at Parral, the Mexicans hurrying on to that town and inciting the populace to attack the Americans.

Several Carranzista soldiers are reported to have been killed. The Americans used a machine gun in the Parral conflict, and this would undoubtedly have caused a heavy loss among the members of the mob that attacked the Americans.

Throughout the length of the State of Chihuahua the American troops are taking extreme precautions against attack.

Only few automobiles venture out of El Paso at the border, and at other border points without arms. Word reached police headquarters today that Mexican snipers had fired across the Rio Grande at motorists following the trail along the river bank, but no one was injured.

PARRAL CITIZENS ARMED.

"Can war be avoided?" is the chief question asked on the border today. It has replaced the week-old inquiry of "How long will it take to capture Villa?"

The fact that the American troops responded without hesitation to the fire directed upon them at Parral shows that a "shoot first and then ask questions" attitude has been adopted by the expeditionary force. This outfit may at any moment set diplomatic quibbling at naught and bring war with a rush, according to border observers.

Mexican official reports referred to the Parral battle as a "lamentable incident," but through Mexico there went today reports that "Gringoes" were responsible for the clash because they had disregarded Carranza's warning against entering towns in Mexico.

No explanation has yet come from Mexican sources of the fact that the civilians of Parral were armed. More than two months ago the de facto government ordered the citizens disarmed and it was later reported that all pistols, rifles, knives and shot guns had been confiscated by the Carranzistas.

Mayor Herrera of Parral is the father of General Luis Herrera, the Carranza officer who disappeared with 1,500 men from Chihuahua City and then turned up at General Pershing's headquarters, where he pledged his aid to the American expedition. This "aid" did not result in the capture of Villa.

Word comes from Sonora that Americans have been advised to leave that State owing to the concentration of Carranza troops under General Arnufalo Gomez. Several have needed this warning.

Get Ready for Sunday Attack on Pershing

Los Angeles, April 14.—The Los Angeles Tribune today prints a story declaring it has information to the effect that the forces of General Carranza will make an attack on General Pershing's American expedition next Sunday morning. The first step in the attack, the Tribune declares, will be to cut the line of communications between General Pershing's headquarters and the base at Columbus.

The Tribune says the story is based on information received in Los Angeles by an American who stands high in Carranza's Secret Service work.

From the same source of information, says the Tribune, it has been learned that a confidential telegram was received by Andreau Garcia, Carranza, consul at El Paso, direct from General Obregon, stating that Mexican troops should start this (Friday) morning to intercept supplies of food and ammunition which are being sent from the border to the American troops now in the interior.

General Obregon is said to have declared that the refusal of the United States government to withdraw troops has caused his determination to sever relations between Mexico and the United States and to strike the first blow.

Pershing Prepared, Says Gen. Funston

By International News Service.

San Antonio, Tex., April 14.—"No apprehension need be felt about the ability of General Pershing and his advance columns to take care of themselves," General Funston said early today. He continued:

As in any similar condition the advance columns will fall back if they have met serious opposition and concentrate, if pressed further, will fall back on their supporting columns.

General Pershing has several thousand men below Namiquipa. I do not care to disclose how many. He is especially strong there in artillery, and against any force of Mexican troops that can be concentrated thickly in that region he will be amply prepared not only to protect himself but to dominate the situation.

Of course his troops will stay out of such cities as are near the line of retirement of the advance column, if retirement is necessary, and thus avoid any instances of fighting both soldiers and populace.

While I cannot discuss my orders nor disclose our troop movements, I will state this, that we have taken careful steps to know what Gomez' Sonora troops are doing.

The line of communication is protected.

General Funston said he had received no orders from Washington for rushing troops to the asport of Pershing. He said the border communities would continue to be protected and the army in Mexico would protect itself.

Funston's Air Scout Watches Mexican Troops

By L. V. R. RUCKER,
International News Staff Correspondent.

San Antonio, Tex., April 14.—MAJOR-GENERAL FUNSTON has dispatched an aeroplane scout along the border of the Mexican State of Sonora to observe the movements of the Carranza troops commanded by General Arnulfo Gomez. The American commander frankly admitted today that he was puzzled by Gomez' action.

"Gomez is most mysterious," he said. "I know what he is doing, but I can't figure on why he is doing it."

Funston refused to amplify his comment or tell whence the aerial scout started, but he probably went from Columbus in one of the new Curtiss machines shipped from Washington.

Mexican Press Says U. S. Has Failed

By International News Service.

Mexico City, April 14.—Mexican press today unanimously approves the de facto government's request that the American troops be withdrawn from Mexico. The newspapers assert that the Carranza troops are thoroughly capable of dealing with the situation, that the United States expedition has failed completely in its purpose, and that there is no further reason for foreign troops being on Mexican soil.

General Pablo Gonzales went to Tlalnepantla this morning to pay his respects to General Carranza and his cabinet officers. Public officials and civic organizations united in plans for an enthusiastic welcome to the first chief when he enters the city.

INCREASE IN WAGES IN FITCHBURG MILLS

Fitchburg, April 14.—A ten per cent. advance in wages, to take effect Monday, April 17, was announced today for the 1,300 operatives of the Parkhill Gingham Mills, and the 300 operatives of the Rockdale and Orswell Cotton Yarn Mills. These will make a total of 2,500 Fitchburg mill operatives to get ten per cent. more on that date.

JUDGE DUFF TRIES CASE IN FRENCH

In Municipal Court today a case was tried in the French language, Arthur Joseph, who is employed at the Copley-Plaza, was before Judge Duff on the charge of violating the motorcycle speed law. He is a Frenchman and does not converse very well in English.

There was no French interpreter in court. Joseph suggested that a friend who was with him act as interpreter. Judge Duff didn't accept the suggestion and surprised every body when he told Joseph to tell his story in French. Judge Duff cross examined him in French, found him guilty and imposed a $1 fine.

Boston American Scored a Record "Beat" on Carranza's Note to U. S.

ONE of the most important news beats in the history of modern journalism was scored yesterday by the Boston AMERICAN and the International News Service.

The Boston AMERICAN was the ONLY BOSTON NEWSPAPER yesterday TO PRINT THE NOTE FROM GENERAL CARRANZA TO THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, DEMANDING THAT AMERICAN TROOPS BE WITHDRAWN FROM MEXICO.

This vital news came to the AMERICAN direct from Queretaro over a leased wire of the International News Service. Washington did not receive its direct word of warning from General Carranza until several hours after the Boston AMERICAN.

The exclusive publication yesterday of the Carranza note in the AMERICAN is a tribute to the perfect organization of the staff of International News Service correspondents.

There is no point in Mexico or along the border, no matter how small or apparently insignificant, THAT IS NOT "COVERED" BY THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS CORRESPONDENTS.

RUSH MORE SOLDIERS TO PROTECT PERSHING

By H. H. STANSBURY.

El Paso, Tex., April 14.—One American soldier was killed and twenty wounded by Mexican snipers, citizens of Parral.

The attack on the American force en route from Parral to Satevo to join the Carranza garrison commander at that point today.

The force attacked was a detachment of the Thirteenth Cavalry, which passed Pancho Villa across the Durango border on Monday night. The detachment, according to turn back for lack of supplies. They had no warning of the attack, and were halfway through the town when the firing began.

To protect themselves they dismounted, deployed and returned the fire.

The telegraphic advices by which the news of the engagement was conveyed to the border declare that not less than 150 Mexicans were killed. These messages also carried the assertion that members of the Carranza garrison took part in the fighting.

CONSUL WIRES NEWS.

General Funston at this writing had received no official notification of the engagement. Official status has been given to the news, however, by the Mexican officials and a telegram from Consul Letcher at Chihuahua.

The effect of the news has been to start hurried preparations to prevent an immediate attempt to cut the line of communications between Columbus and the 15,000 troops now in the field.

No living authority north or south of the border can predict what the developments of the next forty-eight hours will be," said the highest military authority in this vicinity when he read the report from Parral.

Both military and civil authorities declared the incident serves to tear aside the cloak of sham behind which the Carranza government has been protesting its cooperation with the efforts of the United States to capture Villa.

FEAR AN UPRISING.

The frantic efforts of the Mexican officials to minimize the importance of the affair as regards casualties clearly indicate fear of an uprising which they will be unable to cope with.

Mexican fashion, they charge full responsibility for the attack to the commander of the United States force.

Minister of War Alvaro Obregon sent the following communication to General Gabriel Gavira, the Carranza commander at Juarez:

My department desires to bring to the knowledge of the army the lamentable incident occurring in the city of Parral, Chihuahua, between the people of that city and an American force belonging to the troops engaged in the pursuit of Villa, and communicates this to you in order that in your turn you may make it known to your subordinates and give it also to the press, so the people may know the facts as they are.

ORDER AMERICANS OUT.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon an American force composed of 150 men entered Parral. Our commander notified the commander of the said force that the Americans should vacate. The commander of the Americans began to carry out the wish of the authorities when the people of the city organized a meeting of protest against the entrance into the city of the American troops without permission.

The civil authorities tried to avoid a conflict, but their forces were not sufficient to handle the situation.

In the friction which resulted one American soldier was killed and several citizens were wounded.

The municipal President, Jose de la Luz Herrera, and the Constitutionalist Generals Garcia, Lazano and Hernandez, with some of their officials and troops, tried to calm the people, thus avoiding an incident which might have assumed very large proportions.

It is generous to say that Minister of War Obregon was merely inaccurate in his statement if the reports received from the American mining interests at Parral are correct.

U. S. TROOPS UNWARNED.

The cavalry detachment was not only without warning of the attack, but to all appearances the town was deserted when they entered by the wide street or roadway. The troops were merely following the same route they had traversed on the march to the south last Sunday.

The detachment broke camp some twenty miles south of Parral at daylight on Wednesday. Their plan to detour through the town when the firing began, and establish communication with General Pershing at Satevo is believed to have been carried out by fleet couriers who had followed the command on Monday and Tuesday as spies.

These Mexicans reached Parral fully 19 hours ahead of the cavalry. With the information they brought, the entire hill themselves along a stretch of roadway for a quarter of a mile. The natives of the town were all ordered off the streets by the civil authorities.

So little time intervened for these preparations, it is not made clear just when the mass meeting of protest, to which Obregon made reference could have been held.

CAVALRY MAY BE TRAPPED.

Whether or not the American force has established communications with General Pershing, and how the wounded were cared for is not known. Anxiety has been expressed here that unless General Pershing gets reinforcements to the detachment engaged in the fight, Villa's men may trap them. The entire country surrounding Parral is said to be infested with followers of the bandit leader, who himself is still hiding in the country near Guadalupe Hidalgo.

Villa's forces are known to be at Pilar de Conshas, a town of 4,000 population, thirty-five miles east of Parral. There is another strong band at Rancho Del Media, seventeen miles from Parral. Other bands are located at El Pueblito, El Valle de Allende and Santa Cruz de Herrera. These are a part of the Villista force which raided and looted the town of Jiminez a week ago.

HALT VILLA RAID.

An interesting story was told here of how the depredations of the Villistas were brought to a halt by the Alvarado Mining & Smelting Co. This American concern, with headquarters at La Boquilla. They own the power plant at Boquilla and the line of transmission which connects with Parral. For several weeks both Carrancistas and Villistas have occupied themselves profitably in cutting the copper wire and shipping it to the border.

The manager of the power plant, without warning to the marauders, threw a switch which sent 13,000 volts of electricity over the wires of one of the branch lines which had just been attacked. Seven Mexicans were killed outright, and information received here is to that four of the number were Carranzistas.

Must Intervene or Quit, Says Stone.

Washington, April 14.—Senator Stone, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, today declared the administration was face to face with these alternatives:

"Grant Carranza's demands, give up the hunt for Villa and withdraw the troops from Mexico, or,

"Keep the troops in Mexico, abandon the policy of the past four years and prepare to intervene.'

"Personally," said Senator Stone, "I have never believed that the expeditionary force in Mexico could accomplish its main object—namely the capture of Villa.

"The job is too big for it. Villa is in a friendly country, which he knows. The question now confronting the administration is: 'How long are we going to keep the troops in Mexico'

"By maintaining a force of 12,000 to 15,000 men in the heart of Mexico we certainly are going to create friction. If we are prepared now to abandon the policy we have been maintaining in Mexico for the past four years, the thing to do is to keep the troops there and get ready for intervention. If we are going to stand by our policy of the past we must bring the troops out."

Agitation for an embargo on arms to Mexico was begun in the Senate today immediately after it convened. Senator Curtis, of Kansas, declared the President should immediately declare an embargo and prepare to intervene. He opposed Congressional action, however, he said, until the administration had a chance to act.

VILLA SMUGGLING CASE CONTINUED

El Paso, Texas, April 14.—At the request of the district attorney, Judge Shepard in Federal court today continued indefinitely the case of the United States vs. Francisco Villa, and his brother, Hippolito Villa, on charges of smuggling $20,000 worth of precious stones into this country. Villa's attorney said that, in view of the sentiment along the border, his clients would be unable to get a fair trial.

Gen. Funston Ordered to Act

By International News Service.

Washington, April 14.—General Funston, in command of about 15,000 troops on the border, was given practically unlimited instructions to protect the United States troops in Mexico.

The orders, which were sent last night, were understood by army officials to mean that General Pershing, and especially his advance guard attacked at Parral, must be protected with all the means at Funston's command and at the earliest possible moment.

Army opinion was that General Funston would act promptly and that his first order would be to send at once the troops nearest to the imperilled forces of General Pershing, to his rescue. The next step of General Funston, it was believed, would be to send all available troops across the border, and, if he regards the matter as sufficiently pressing, to utilize the Mexican Northwest Railway for that purpose.

FUNSTON RUSHES AID.

It was understood that the six or seven thousand infantrymen along the line from Casas Grandes were on the move south. It was stated by army officers that was seldom a general given such wide latitude as General Funston has been given in the orders from the Secretary of War.

In re-stating his orders to General Funston, Secretary Baker said:

I telegraphed to General Funston the contents of the dispatches which were handed out by Mr. Arredondo. I directed him to take all the necessary steps to protect our soldiers and allay further trouble, and to wire promptly all obtainable details.

GREAT "SCOOP" ON CARRANZA MESSAGE

By International News Service.

New York, April 14.—The International News Service has added one more most important news beat to its already long list. It was the only news association to deliver to newspapers early yesterday in time for early morning publication the news of General Carranza's demand that United States troops be withdrawn from Mexico. Not only did it obtain exclusively this important news but it delivered to its clients the full text of the Mexican chieftain's note to the United States hours before that text had been received even by the State Department at Washington.

The International News Service was deluged with congratulations on its "scoop." With them were interspersed inquiries on how such important news could be obtained exclusively.

The answer is simple. It lies wholly in the one word "organization." The International News Service has a competent correspondent with Carranza at Queretaro, just as it has a competent correspondent at every point where news is likely to emanate.

RESULT OF FINE SYSTEM.

The correspondent of the International News Service at Queretaro, whose name is P. P. Healy, obtained a copy of General Carranza's note to the United States government and filed it on the telegraph wires addressed to the editorial office of the International News Service at Chicago. The dispatch came by cable via Galveston, at the psychological moment when every morning newspaper in the country was going to press, hence the extremely few instances in which a rival of the International News Service was enabled to "lift" any of the dispatch.

This is merely an example of the complete system employed by the International News Service for handling Mexican news, the most thorough system ever devised by any press association. One of its leased wires reaches El Paso, where matter is filed direct to points between Chicago and the Pacific coast. Another leased wire runs into San Antonio. General Funston's headquarters. While still another reaches Washington. The two converge at Chicago, where the news is handled and relayed from one wire to the other.

CLIENTS GET THE NEWS.

The Carranza note "beat" is merely a demonstration of the completeness of a system which never slips. Within a few moments of the receipt of the news at Chicago clients of the International News Service, from Boston to Argentine, were aware of the latest and most important development in the Mexican situation.

Food Riots in Mexican Cities

El Paso, Tex., April 14.—The news of the clash at Parral between American soldiers and Mexicans was followed by reports of serious rioting in other points in Chihuahua, but in none of these other incidents were American soldiers said to be involved. The riots were said to be due principally to economic conditions and are not primarily political.

The scarcity of food in the cities of northern Mexico has been growing steadily and in many places the masses of the people are said to be near starvation.

The worst rioting was reported far to the south, in Aguas Calientes, capital of the State of that name. Food riots in which 800 took part and which have been going on spasmodically for the last two days were described in a message received from a rubbing concern with large interests in Aguas Calientes. The message said rioting had been carried on extensively.

As far as this section of the border is concerned, the news of Carranza's request for the withdrawal of the troops has not caused any open disturbance.

Juarez maintained its customary placid attitude, and the Mexicans on both sides of the river seemed far less excited than the Americans.

ARREDONDO GIVES OFFICIAL MEXICAN VERSION OF BATTLE

Washington, April 14.—Ignacio Arredondo, Mexican ambassador, today put up the Mexican Embassy in regard to the shooting of United States troops below.

Queretaro, April 14.

Mr. Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican Ambassador, Washington:

Please center with the Secretary Lansing and inform him that today at 9 o'clock in the morning the column of the American troops entered the city of Parral.

The Mayor of the city, Jose de la Luz Herrera, immediately called the attention of the commander of this column to the inability of the authorities to guarantee the safety of the citizens, whose feelings were against the troops who were treated, and the Mayor not only requested the commander of the said troops to withdraw from the city in order to prevent disorders, but owing to the dependence of a civilian who fired a shot, a general disorder followed, in which one American soldier was killed and several civilians were wounded by Americans.

Military commanders were credited with the necessity of withdrawing the troops from the city. Maturoma, to prevent them from following the Americans, and thereby forming a combination of Constitutionalist soldiers.

SAYS WARNING WAS GIVEN.

In this connection the Mexican government has called attention to the fact that the American government, to that effect, acted to give the necessary instructions to the commanders of the American troops to take measures to prevent them occupying any towns.

The Mexican government deplores the occurrence but it was beyond its efforts to prevent it, and insists that the American government on the necessity of withdrawing the troops from Mexico, and in no case from pursuing the pursuit of the guilty and of the bandits, for which countries are obliged to proceed.

ARREDONDO.

Queretaro, April 14.

Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican Embassy, Washington:

After message sent you by Secretary Acuna, Minister of Foreign Affairs, the secretaries of War received a message from General Gutierrez, chief of Chihuahua, informing him that it had been impossible to check the disorders to which the mob against Americans in Parral gave rise, and that this evening the fight had continued between our people and the American forces, that many deaths had occurred on both sides. General Obregon has already given orders to prevent continuation of battle, but the excitement is so great among the people that I fail to know whether the struggle can be stopped.

I beg the Secretary of State, and assure him that the occurrence is due to the newness and lack of discipline of the troops in having entered Parral without previous notice, and also to their violating the orders of that government forbidding the occupation of towns by American troops.

Please cause the Secretary of State to see that it is unwise for American troops to remain on Mexican soil, as more serious incidents than the present one, which we must avoid at all cost, may develop.

GARCIA TELLS OF TROUBLE.

The civil authorities did everything to avoid a conflict, but could not prevent the mob violence, and to the insistence of American officials was added the strong note of protest from Governor Garcia.

The de facto authorities immediately took steps to protect the soldiers with a military escort, and when reinforcements arrived there was increased enough to quiet the people and prevent further trouble. There was no attempt to disarm the soldiers, as stated from the start.

ANDREW MAHONEY.

FUNSTON TO ACT.

Secretary of War Baker sent out the following statement:

"I have instructed General Funston to take the necessary steps to protect our people and put a stop to further trouble.

"I have also sent word to Funston to wire me if he has got as far as he says he has."

Blame concrete pavements for many ailments

Report shows 28% increase of fallen arches and flat foot since introduction of hard pavements

The records of the Hospital for Crippled in New York, show that in the year 1890, before hard concrete pavements were introduced, Arch Trouble claimed 2.6 per cent of the new patients treated. In 1906, the percentage had risen to 18.3, and in the last report to over 30 per cent.

These startling figures led to further investigations. Figures taken from reports of the Army and Navy, the Police and Fire Departments showed the same increase in foot troubles.

Concrete streets and pavements have greatly improved our traffic conditions, but they have proved a serious menace to human Health and Efficiency.

How the foot breaks down

In a soft walk the foot shapes the ground; on an unyielding walk, the pavement shapes the foot. The foot that Nature gave us can no longer serve us without pains and discomfort under modern conditions. The Indian or Japanese will go to pieces on our sidewalks, he will contract weak feet; or, if he had them before, they will suddenly become more painful.

The normal foot has four arches which act as springs and give elasticity to the foot. The continual pounding with the whole weight of the body on hard, unyielding concrete, weakens and depresses these natural springs —elasticity of step is lost, and the foot is gradually forced into a deformed position.

The far reaching effects

This constant strain on the arches, and stretching of the ligaments, eventually produces extreme tenderness and marked pains throughout the foot, and muscles of the leg as well. These pains become chronic. "Stiffness," chronic backache, nervous irritability and digestive disturbances—these are the later effects that can often be traced directly to "weak feet" or "fallen arches."

Save your health

Don't pound away your health on hard concrete sidewalks. Save your system from the jolts and jars that tend to break down health. O'Sullivan's Heels of New, Live Rubber absorb the shocks—they act as springy cushions between your heels and hardwood floors and pavements.

At any shoe dealer or shoemaker; in black, white or tan; for men, women and children, 50c attached.

Be sure to get O'Sullivan's —avoid the disappointment of substitutes. Most good shoe dealers now sell latest styles already O'Sullivanized.

Congress Opposes Quitting Hunt

ATTITUDE IS SHOWN BY POLL

By International News Service.

Washington, April 14.—A poll of Congress by the Hearst newspapers disclosed an overwhelming sentiment against compliance with Carranza's demand for withdrawal of the American troops in Mexico.

The prevailing opinion is that the troops should be kept there until the object of the expedition is accomplished, regardless of the consequences.

The question put to each member of the House and the Senate was the following:

"Do you think the United States should comply with Carranza's demand?"

The result of the poll follows:

HOUSE.

Yes—Democrats 8, Republicans 8, Socialist 1. Total 17.

No—Democrats 76, Republicans 83, Prohibitionist 1, Protectionist 1, Progressive 1. Total 162.

Urge Carranza Demand Be Rejected

By International News Service.

Washington, April 14.—Following are statements by Senators and Representatives on Carranza's demand that the American troops be withdrawn from Mexico:

PORTER J. McCUMBER, United States Senator from North Dakota—Villa should be captured and brought back either dead or alive. American troops should not be permitted to return until that is done.

MARCUS A. SMITH, United States Senator from Arizona—If necessary United States troops now in pursuit should follow Villa and his band to the South Pole in order to capture him. The people of this country will not countenance any turning back on this job.

HENRY F. ASHURST, United States Senator from Arizona—The question of withdrawing troops from Mexico at this time is too absurd for discussion. Instead of considering Carranza's demand that the troops be withdrawn, we should now be sent to redouble the efforts in pursuing and capturing Villa and his bandit gang.

JACOB H. GALLINGER, United States Senator from New Hampshire, Republican—The situation looks very bad to me. If the Carranza note is to be taken as a demand upon the United States to withdraw the Villa expedition, our troops will have to be withdrawn with consequent humiliation to the entire country, or we must send more men into Mexico.

SENATOR KERN of Indiana, Democrat—I do not think I should favor getting out of Mexico just at this moment.

SENATOR NELSON of Minnesota, Republican—All I care to say is that I am for a larger army just now.

SENATOR HOKE SMITH, Georgia, Democrat—In my judgment, we shall never have satisfactory conditions in Mexico until order and peace have been restored and a stable government set up.

JULIUS KAHN, California, Republican—I do not think we should withdraw our troops from Mexico. We should remain there until Villa and his band are captured.

REPRESENTATIVE SLAYDEN, Texas, Democrat—I do not think the troops should be withdrawn until they have accomplished the purpose in view when they were sent there.

GORDON LEE, Representative, Georgia, Democrat—It would be improper to withdraw the troops until Villa is taken—dead or alive.

CHARLES R. CRISP, Representative, Georgia, Democrat—The original purpose which actuated the punitive expedition should be followed up to a successful conclusion.

THOMAS W. MILLER, Representative, Delaware, Republican—I do not think we should come out until the object of the punitive expedition is accomplished.

FRANK CLARK, Representative, Florida, Democrat—I most emphatically do not believe that American troops should be withdrawn. If President Wilson should decide upon such a step, which I hope is impossible, he should at the same time announce that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

REPRESENTATIVE HARRISON, Missouri, Democrat—I believe we should keep the troops in Mexico. I believe we should get Villa, alive or dead, no matter what Mr. Carranza may have to say about it.

REPRESENTATIVE CAPSTICK, New Jersey, Republican—I believe that it is high time a strong, definite stand was taken for American rights.

REPRESENTATIVE REAVIS, Nebraska, Republican—By no means should the troops be withdrawn from Mexico at this time. We sent them there with a definite mission, and they should be kept there until they accomplish it.

THOMAS M. BELL, Georgia, Democrat—If I had arbitrary powers, I would not pay an attention to what Carranza said. I would maintain our troops in Mexico until Villa was captured or exterminated at any cost.

WILLIAM SCHLEY HOWARD, Representative, Georgia, Democrat—I think Carranza's attitude is absolutely unjustified. I favor strengthening our forces in Mexico.

WILSON'S SPEECH MAY MEAN PREPARATION TO RECALL U. S. TROOPS

By International News Service.

Washington, April 14.—President Wilson, delivering the principal address at the Jefferson Day banquet of the Common Counsel Club, uttered significant words that were interpreted to mean that he was contemplating the withdrawal of the American forces from Mexico.

He also asked the country if it was ready to enter the world troubles in the interest of humanity. He said:

Are you ready for the test? God forbid that we should become embroiled in quarrels not of our own choosing! But if we should ever be drawn in, are you ready to go in, only where the interest of America are coincident with the interests of mankind as well? And are you ready to draw out when the interests narrow down?

Have you courage to go in? Have you courage to come out according as the balances are readjusted for the interests of humanity?

No man can be proud of America merely because it has accumulated wealth and power. The pride comes in seeing how that wealth and power are used. We can now show better than ever before how America can lead in the path of enlightenment.

I am not interested in personal ambition. I am not enthusiastic over mere party success.

This country has not time, it is not in a temper to listen to the violent, the passionate, the ambitious.

Power never in America should long be trusted to those who use it in their own behalf.

These are days that search men's hearts, discredit selfish speech; these are solemn days, when all moral standards of mankind are about to be tried out and the responsibility is ours to say whether America under our leadership shall hold the balances even.

KEEP ARMY IN MEXICO, URGES MAJOR DAYTON

By MAJOR E. J. DAYTON.

Boston American's Military Expert and Associate Editor, Army and Navy Journal.

An American army in several hundred miles south of El Paso, in obedience to an order of the President.

With singular success, they have marched through that wilds region without causing friction with a populace, whose more ignorant and lawless remnants are known to be bitter enemies of Americans.

It is significant that the first attack by the civil population occurred on the day when the Carranza demand was made for the withdrawal of the American forces.

In considering the general situation in Mexico, it is only fair to admit that the Carranza attitude is not an inevitable result of his political situation.

Of all the Mexicans who have maintained a leadership with real power back of it, none has been more consistently popular than Zapata. The great factors in the Zapata program in his propaganda to kill or drive out every American and to confiscate his property.

ZAPATA SLOGAN POPULAR.

That is the most popular slogan in Mexico. Its popularity enabled Pancho Villa to recruit a large party of men willing to extend the idea across the frontier and kill and loot on the American side.

Carranza is a weak leader in Mexico, because he is unable to stand midway between the few who have money and property, and the many who want it.

It was inevitable that, if Carranza strongly favored the American effort to punish Villa, he would greatly weaken such prestige as was his. The refusal to put the railways at the disposal of the American forces proved his desire to aid the American effort fail.

It is to be hoped that no short-sighted policy or political exigencies may reduce the recall of our soldiers with their task yet accomplished. That would crown the murderer Villa with a great glory among a large element in Mexico.

WILL REPEAT ATTACKS.

The Carranza demand will have the effect of definitely branding the American soldiers who are in Mexico as enemies of the country. What happened at Parral is likely to be repeated at scores of places.

The recent movement of Carranza troops toward the north had no benevolent purpose. They are there to give color to the claim which Carranza hopes later to make, that his troops ejected the "gringoes" from the soil of Mexico.

Should they actually interfere with that long and exposed line of communications south of Columbus, there would be only one course open. This would be the immediate dispatch of a strong reinforcement southward.

Undoubtedly, General Pershing would deal promptly with the emergency by seizing the best local point of supply, which is the city of Chihuahua.

MENACE IN MEXICAN MOVE

By International News Service.

El Paso, Tex., April 14.—Thirty thousand veteran Carranzista troops, well armed and equipped and hardened by four years of campaigning, are massed near the American border in a position threatening the American line of communication.

More than 12,000 United States troops are scattered over a distance of approximately 500 miles in the interior of Mexico. The advance column of the American forces forms the pivotal point of the Mexican mobilization.

CAN ATTACK AT ONCE.

The Carranzista force in the north could be mobilized within seventy-two hours to attack every base on the American line of communication.

The campaigns against the Yaquis and the Zapatistas have been abandoned to permit of the concentration of the Carranza forces.

General H. Ellas Calles, military commander of Sonora, has 12,000 men in his command, 2,000 of them cavalry.

Ten thousand are either garrisoned along the United States-Mexico line, or are concentrated at points within a day's march of the line.

Three thousand of the Sonora troops are now in Northern Chihuahua. They came through the Oaxaca-Carratas pass four days ago. Yesterday 2,000 more, including 1,000 cavalry, four pieces of field artillery and twelve machine guns, came through Pulpita Pass.

AMERICAN FORCES WEAK.

A large force of Carranzistas are inland, within ten miles of Nogales, although the garrison across the American town is less than 500.

Mexicali, in Lower California, is garrisoned by less than 300 men. At Naco there are about 500 Carranzistas on the Mexican side of the line and an additional 400 at San Jose, fifteen miles south. Interior garrisons of Sonora, from Nacozari, Monterama, and even as far south as Tonichi, have been moved south, except for small retaining garrisons, to concentration camps at Fronteras and Morelos.

From the Central States of Mexico, General Obregon has for days been sending troops northward. They are to be mobilized on the branch Mexican Northwestern Railway, which runs from Chihuahua City to Madera. These men have been withdrawn from districts notoriously infested with bandits.

Nemo NEWS
Devoted to the HEALTH, COMFORT and BEAUTY of WOMEN

A good friend has set us to thinking. She said:

"Your Wonderlift ads remind me of patent medicine."

Which means that our ads have given her the idea that the Wonderlift is a sick woman's corset.

Probably that's our fault—we may have said too much about the marvelous health features when, in reality, the Wonderlift is quite as remarkable as a style corset.

Here's the fact:

The very features that make Nemo Wonderlift Corsets so healthful also mould the figure into perfect fashion-lines.

No. 555

For instance:

1. The Wonderlift Bandlet promotes health by giving perfect physical support. It also prevents the corset from riding up and twisting, thus preserving smooth, fashionable lines.

2. It reshapes and reduces a too-full figure, and builds up and rounds out a too-slim figure. In other words, it corrects natural figure-defects; insures comfort.

3. The Nemo "bridge" assures freedom from pressure over gastric region, promotes free breathing and good digestion, i. e., HEALTH. It also induces an erect, graceful, fashionable pose, without which real STYLE is impossible.

EMPHATICALLY the Nemo Wonderlift IS a STYLE Corset of the highest class, and it is MADE SO by its wonderful HYGIENIC FEATURES

There's one Wonderlift mode for very slim figures with sharp hip bones and concave abdomen—No. 857, at $5.00.

Another for the biggest women, with rolls of flesh all over—No. 998, at $10.00. This is the only corset of its kind ever made.

Then there are other models not so extreme:

854—for short stout women.....$5.00
856—for taller full figures.....$5.00
853—for slender to medium.....$5.00
1000—a model de luxe, of lustrous brocade for average full figures..$10.

We confidently repeat this prediction:

In due time, nearly every woman who wears a corset will wear a Nemo Wonderlift.

'SHREW' OPERA SPLENDIDLY PERFORMED

By FRED J. McISAAC.

"THE TAMING OF THE SHREW" was the bill at the Boston Opera House last evening. The German forces of the Metropolitan were again in evidence with Ober, Rappold, Goritz, Leonhardt, Sembach, and Whitehill.

"Der Widerspanstigen Zahmung," or "The Taming of the Shrew," is the work of Hermann Goetz, a German composer, who was born in 1840 and died in 1876. During his short life he produced but this one opera. Although it is older by ten years than "Parsifal," and has enjoyed celebrity for many years in Germany, it had never been given in Boston, and it is thought that there were no performances in New York before it was produced by the Metropolitan this season.

Goetz followed Shakespeare's story very closely. The action begins at night. Lucentio is serenading Bianca, but his ditty is interrupted by a riot among Baptista's servants, who refuse to submit to Katherine's ill treatment of them any longer. Then Hortensio, a second suitor for Bianca, arrives, also intent upon a serenade, and Baptista emerges to inform the swains that Bianca will not wed until Katherine, her elder sister, is disposed of. Petruccio now arrives, and fired by Hortensio's description of Katherine's beauty and spirit, vows to marry her.

CHARMING MUSIC IN GOETZ OPERA

The second act begins with the scene between Katherine and Bianca, in which the elder sister beats the younger. Hortensio and Lucentio, who arrive, get rough usage at the hands of the shrew. The act ends with Petruchio's wooing of Katherine. In the third act comes the marriage and the fourth act shows the taming of the shrew, in strict accord with Shakespeare's comedy.

There is some very charming music in this opera. Goetz had a fine vein of melody, and was an apt pupil of Wagner in the use of an orchestra. Of course, there are stretches of tedious recitative and blustering declamation, as in most German operas, but the orchestration is always ingenious, full of bright color and good spirits. There are several massive choruses which suggest in their style "The Meistersingers," which was several seasons old when Goetz turned out this opera.

The opera heightens the good impression made by Ober as the boy in "Rose Cavalier." In the role of Katherine, the shrew, she exhibits comic powers as well as a very gorgeous voice. I should like very much to see her as Carmen.

WHITEHILL SINGS PETRUCHIO ROLE

Clarence Whitehill, as Petruchio, acts in the furious and swash-buckling manner of tradition, but much of the music is too high for him, and most of his declamation was entirely out of tune. He chewed and mouthed his first act and while he sang better as the evening progressed, he never did the music justice.

Sembach had little to do as Lucentio, but did it admirably. Rappold also had an easy night. Leonhardt is a capital comedian as well as a very competent buffo baritone, and so is Otto Goritz. The remainder of the long cast, chorus and orchestra deserve the warmest praise.

UNABLE TO FIND A WIFE IN 42 STATES

By International News Service.

Bridgeport, Ct., April 14.—Joseph Cronan, a farmer of Derby, announces that he has searched forty-two States and two countries of Europe and while he is in a receptive mood, he has not found a girl suitable to be his spouse.

"I am strictly temperate, a healthy and strong farmer and I have been searching sixteen years for the right kind of a wife," he declared. "I have yet to find the woman and I wish the newspapers would help me."

Motor Notes.

By J. C. KERRISON.

The salesforces of the R. E. Taylor Corporation, distributers of Garford trucks in Boston, enjoyed a dinner at the Hotel Westminster last evening as the guest of Local Manager E. F. Twyman, Jr. Mr. Twyman took the occasion to congratulate the members of the sales organization on the success that has attended their efforts during the past few months.

He prophesied that by such hearty co-operation as has marked the work of the men during the past year, the Garford sales in New England will increase at least 200 per cent. the coming year. Talks on salesmanship and the work of the organization were given by various members of the salesforce.

A series of luncheons at which prominent speakers will talk will be inaugurated by the Bay State Automobile association April 27. Adjutant-General Charles H. Cole will speak on "Preparedness."

The regular luncheon room of the association at Hotel Lenox will be used, and as the 500 members have been invited to bring guests the attendance is expected to tax the capacity of the room. These luncheons in the automobile section of the city are for the purpose of getting automobile enthusiasts together more frequently.

ADELE ROWLAND NAMED IN DIVORCE SUIT AGAINST ACTOR

By International News Service.

New York, April 14.—Miss Adele Rowland, actress, has been named by Roberta Menges Corwin Tearle in a Supreme Court action for divorce. The defendant is Conway Tearle, actor. He has been three times married and twice divorced.

Mrs. Tearle No. 3 bases her divorce action on an unexpected visit she and some detectives made upon Miss Rowland's apartment, at the corner of Broadway and Eighteenth street, on March 30 last. She says in her complaint that she found Tearle's name in the card directory at the door and later discovered him in Miss Rowland's room.

The story which Miss Mabel Rowland, sister of Adele, told differs considerably from that of Mrs. Tearle.

"Adele and Mr. Conway Tearle were sitting in Adele's apartment reading a play," said the sister. "In burst Mrs. Tearle with some man. That's what they call the 'hale.' It will appear in court for defend her would be laughable if it were not so serious a charge. You can depend upon it Mr. Tearle and my sister will both fight this case to the finish. Attorneys for Mr. Tearle said the answer would deny the charges absolutely. The lawyers will interpose a defense for Miss Rowland and she will appear in court to defend her good name. She is coming to see anybody.

Roberta Menges Corwin Hill Tearle was formerly known as "the belle of Sheepshead Bay." She has been three times married and divorced two husbands.

MRS. WHEELER LIFTS SIEGE OF CLUB

New York, April 14.—The Union League Club in Fifth avenue, capitalated, flickered in the gaping crowds that at one time threatened to block traffic, and the exclusive club finally presented to Albert Gallatin Wheeler, Jr., its surrender.

Today, consequently, the siege of the club in the dooryard of the old mansion by Mrs. Blanche Caldwell Wheeler, known as "the girl in the Red Tights" for her role in some reform on her husband's star part for 15,000 simoleons a year, was lifted. Preparations were made at the sheriff's office for the vacation.

SIEGE FOLLOWED ELECTION

Fifth avenue motorists were treated to their first surprise when Mrs. Wheeler, accompanied by an attorney and a sheriff, rented her way into the club and almost collared her husband, who had taken refuge there. After she was unceremoniously ejected she started to besiege the club at first in person, and later by means of deputy sheriffs.

Her queries dared not leave the club, even to chance a work around the block. And every person going in the club stopped to stare at the deputy on guard there. Most of them stood in the eyes of the wealthy members, of course, and every sort of information was tried to lure him off guard.

When that was found to be useless the presence was turned on young Wheeler. He finally got him interested to give himself an hour's run on his father. He also interested financier and subway builder arrived to assist him.

RATHER SEE HIM IN JAIL

His wife, just as determined as when she invaded the sacred precincts of the club, expressed herself thus in relation to her private seige:

He has acted the part. If his club friends and other associates knew the attitude as it really is the Union League Club or any other club in New York would be to her to hold him. I think I would rather see him in Ludlow street jail than to live with him.

Mrs. Wheeler is living with many friends, whom she calls "Daddy Morris" and "Mother Morris," on the third floor of an apartment house at No. 508 West Thirty-fourth street. Mrs. Wheeler elect-bed briefly her early career.

A BOSTON GIRL

She was born in Boston, and was a prima donna contralto with Lydia Dahlels in 1898 in the "Idols' Eye" as the "Girl in Red Tights," until she married Wheeler. At that time her husband did not have much money, she said. She helped him by work and by counsel to push his fortune. He made $2,000,000 with his father, who financed and built the Chicago subway, She said.

I helped him along. We used to go to half the night figuring on plans, and so on, and when he finally made his big money he told me that without my help he would never have made a penny. I had great ambitions for him. I saw in him Presidential possibilities. I loved him, and love him now, but I never can live with him to him again.

Mrs. Wheeler said that in 1910 while they were living in New York her husband told her he was going to leave her, and took their children, even her jewelry and money. Then she went to court. Her husband had promised her $40 a week for child. She told him it wasn't enough. Then began the fight in court, until he was supposed to pay $2,500 alimony. Mrs. Wheeler said he paid the money some of the time, but in such a way that she was forced to expend most of it for law and court.

Mrs. Wheeler insists that she will insist on the legal steps to make her husband pay the back alimony. She declares she will not go back on the stage, and all she wants is a little home and enough alimony to keep her.

BABIES' HOSPITAL WINDS UP AFFAIRS

The Massachusetts Babies' Hospital, which took its name February 14, 1919, from the Massachusetts Infant Asylum, which was incorporated July 11, 1867, petitioned the Supreme Court for permission to transfer its fund to some kindred association, on the ground that they find it is not practicable longer to carry on the work for which the organization was founded. The Boston Children's Aid Society has agreed to accept the trust and the Attorney-General has given his consent.

The association was organized to assist and provide for destitute and deserted children, and headquarters were maintained in Jamaica Plain. The hospital received many donations.

TO INCREASE CAR SERVICE IN MEDFORD

Beginning tomorrow, the elevated announces that it will increase the service to Medford Hillside, practically doubling the present accommodations. A ten minute service with six-eight-passenger cars will be substituted during normal hours, with the same service on both the Arlington Centre and Grove street lines during rush hours, the latter thus providing a five minute service. The cars on both Medford Hillside lines will be operated by way of Pearl and Cross streets instead of Winter Hill.

BULLARD LEAVES RELATIVES $83,000

Bequests of $83,000 were made to the relatives of George H. Bullard of Brookline in his will, which was filed in the Norfolk Probate Court at Dedham today. Mr. Bullard, who was president of the Third Five Cents Savings Bank of Boston, made but one public bequest, $1,000 to the First Religious Society of Roxbury.

RHOME WANTED AGAIN; CHARGE FAKE ORDER

Captain Sullivan of Court square police station is looking again for Joe Rhome on a fake express order charge.

By the same token the Court square "skipper" said some of his men are about ready to jump up and crack their heels together when Joe Rhome's name is mentioned.

They arrested Joseph twice on bunco game charges, secured convictions against him and then saw him escape sentence, first by probation, next by suspension.

If arrested and convicted a third time, however, the Court square camp trusts that it will "hold Joseph for a while."

Constable de Rocco of Quincy went to the Court square station yesterday and talked along this fashion:

IT WAS LIKE THIS.

"I came into Boston this morning. On Federal street a strange man came up and we got talking and he told me he could get me a job as porter. We walked along and there was another man in a doorway near Franklin street with a telegram. We talked with him and his telegram was an order on an express company for a package containing $3,000 worth of goods.

"This second man gave me the order to get the goods, but he wanted a deposit from me for security and I gave him $24—all I had on me—and I went to the express office. The order was a fake and the strangers were gone when I ran back to the corner."

It had a perfectly familiar sound. Captain Sullivan had de Rocco taken to police headquarters to look over the "rogues' gallery."

Dominic was shown 100 pictures in a bunch. He looked through them until he came to one which he said was the "second man," the one with the fake express order.

It was a picture of Joe Rhome of East Boston, alias Frank Lamell, who has an entertaining history.

Two cars ago Rhome was arrested by Court square and Back Bay police and was convicted on two charges of larceny by fake express orders for a total of $75.

AGAIN GOES FREE.

He was given four months on each. He appealed and was let off on probation in the upper court.

Last Summer Joseph was arrested by Patrolman Thomas Van Lashgenen of Court square on three counts of the same bunco nature, totalling $68. He was convicted and given six months. His wife came into court with their five-year-old child—a mighty pretty youngster, too—and made a plea that resulted in Joe's sentence being suspended.

Last November a warrant was issued for his arrest on a charge of defrauding William Yakimo of Salem street out of $90 by means of Confederate money.

BROOKLINE PARTY TELEPHONE GUESTS

About 500 members of the Brookline Board of Trade with their women folk, were guests of the New England Telephone & Telegraph company at the Brookline exchange today.

The guests were received by G. Raymond Roberts and Henry Ridgway, commercial representatives in Brookline, and turned over to District Traffic Manager William F. Crowell. An inspection of the exchange, which is the largest in the suburban districts, with 12,000 stations, was made under the guidance of D. S. Adler, wire chief, and Miss Jane Rextrow, chief operator. Later luncheon was served.

CHAPLIN CALLED AN EVIL TO CHILDHOOD

Cairo, Ill., April 14.—Pie, licorice, snakes, Charlie Chaplin and the lard dinner pail were classified here as among the evils to which childhood is heir, by speakers at the Illinois Congress of Mothers today. No one voiced a protest against the proposal to abolish them all.

HUNT CHEMIST AS MAN WHO MADE BOMBS FOR PLOTTERS

By International News Service.

New York, April 14.—While Dr. Walter T. Schiele, head of the New Jersey Agricultural & Chemical Company, was sought in a dozen cities today on the charge that he invented the fire bombs placed on ships carrying munitions to the allies, a new line of investigation was opened to the New York police working on the German bomb plot, which has resulted in eight men being arrested.

The police learned that a truckman in Hoboken took two cases from the plant where bombs were manufactured to a South Brooklyn pier the day before $3,500,000 damage was done to the pier and two two freight steamers moored there several weeks ago. The truckman was unable to remember the number of the pier, but the police are certain that the cases contained fire bombs and that they caused the conflagration which destroyed great quantities of ammunition.

August Heine, a truckman of Hoboken, told the police today that he had carted to a small tramp steamer in Brooklyn several cases which he understood were to go to Copenhagen. "These cases were marked fertilizer," said Heine, "but I am satisfied that they contained gun cotton and other explosives for the Germans."

Dr. Schiele has thus far evaded the hunt made by the police and they fear his capture will prove a difficult matter. His secretary, Miss Ruth Foss of Hoboken, will be questioned if she can be found. Her sister said today that Miss Foss left home two days ago and had not returned.

DIRECTED PLANTING.

The chemical company's head is alleged by the authorities not only to have invented the bombs, but also to have directed their "planting" where they could do the greatest damage.

City and Federal authorities are combing four states for Schiele. He left his home in Hoboken several days ago. Officials of the Department of Justice believe he can supply information linking some of the men under arrest with the following:

Captain Franz von Papen, recalled German military attache.

Captain Karl Boy-Ed, recalled German naval attache.

Franz von Rintelen, personal envoy to this country of the Kaiser.

At least two high officials of the German government in this country.

A coterie of millionaire German-American bankers and business men who supplied funds for the vast plot.

More than 100 agents of the alleged conspirators who aided in the manufacture and distribution of the bombs and who operated principally in New York, Baltimore, Norfolk, Galveston, San Francisco and Seattle.

PAY STILL MYSTERY.

Evidence piled up today, in the minds of the authorities that the mysterious young German officer who calls himself Robert Fay and who has occupied a cell in the Tombs since last October, is intimately acquainted with the inner workings of the alleged plot. Pay is still a complete mystery. The authorities confess sadly that they are no nearer to solving the riddle of his identity than they were when he was arrested in New Jersey charged with conspiring to blow up ships of the allies with bombs of his own fashioning.

Fay will go on trial next week in the United States Court.

The vast extent of the latest phase of German conspiracies in this country was plainly indicated today in complete confessions made by two of the eight men under arrest. These are Captain R. W. A. Charles and Kleist and Ernest Becker, electrician on the Friedrich der Grosse.

Von Kleist and Becker were arrested Wednesday with Captain Otto Wolpert, superintendent of the Atlas line, a subsidiary of the Hamburg-American line, and Captain Enno Bode, pier superintendent of the Hamburg-American line.

LINER "LABORATORY."

Harold Deming appeared as counsel for Wolpert and Bode. He was attorney for Gustav Stahl, convicted German reservist.

The hearing date was set for April 27. Kleist and Becker were then taken to the office of the department where they had been previously.

They were questioned by Captain W. M. Offley, Assistant Superintendent Joseph E. Baker and John B. Knox, Assistant United States District Attorney. They are understood to have enlarged upon confessions previously made to the police.

WAR SUMMARY

Heavy fog has interfered with operations about Verdun, making effective artillery action impossible; nevertheless the Germans launched another infantry attack against Hill 304 today, according to the French official report.

The attack was repulsed. Elsewhere about Verdun the front was quiet.

The Germans report new artillery activity by the Russians in the Lake Narocz region, while Petrograd says the Germans attacked in the same region without gain.

The Russians report a new device in warfare as having been put into effect by the Turks. The Turks, Petrograd says, "sprayed our troops with poisonous liquids."

Rome reports the recapture of positions taken by the Austrians, and the repulse of Austrian attacks.

Only minor activity is reported by the British.

FEAR BREAK WITH GERMANY IS NEAR

forth in unmistakable terms that the United States believes that Germany has endeavored willfully to raise technical issues to becloud the real issue.

And so far as the suggestion that the Sussex attack is a proper subject for arbitration is concerned, the United States will state flatly that the safety of American citizens is a question of national honor and under no circumstance of arbitration by any mixed tribunal.

BUT ONE ANSWER.

Germany can answer this communication only in one way that will be satisfactory to the United States. That will be a positive promise that its previously accepted pledges will be lived up to in the future and guarantees given that they can be no violation of these pledges. The President does not believe that this will be done.

The confidential communication sent him by Ambassador Gerard is understood to indicate that the Berlin foreign office is in no frame of mind to meet this government's views.

The latest German note has impressed administration officials with the belief that it is in no way responsive to the inquiries made in good faith by the United States. The technical denials therein contained are in absolute variance with the affidavits secured by American diplomatic and consular reports from American citizens.

No administration source today would indicate whether the President will appeal to Congress before breaking diplomatic relations. If he follows the advice of his closest advisers in Congress he will break first and then exchange all of his reasons to a joint session called for that purpose.

In this connection a Cabinet officer declared today that if Congress had kept its hands off the "armed ship" question the entire controversy would have been settled before now. The vote in Congress has been erroneously interpreted in Berlin, officials say, chiefly because of the inability of the German officials to get all of the facts and their interpretation because of the lack of cable connection.

First Survivor Of Sussex Is Here

By International News Service.

New York, April 14.—The first survivor of the Sussex disaster to reach the United States arrived here today on the American liner St. Paul. He is Edward H. Huxley, president of the United States Rubber Company.

"I could not say positively whether the ship was blown up by a mine or torpedo from a submarine," said Mr. Huxley. "The general opinion on board, though, was that the ship had been attacked without warning by a German submarine.

"The disaster happened about 1:20 o'clock in the afternoon, when the Sussex was half way between Folkestone and Dieppe.

"(Previous reports, both official and unofficial, said that the explosion occurred about 2:30.)

"I was standing on the port side of the ship at the time. Suddenly there was a terrific blast which tore away the whole bow of the ship and hurled debris and water high in the air. Much of this wreckage fell back upon the deck, injuring many persons. I saw the severed bow of the ship float away like a cork and then sink. The explosion was on the starboard side of the ship forward and many persons that were in that part of the ship were killed outright or thrown into the sea.

Turks South of Tigris Driven Back by British

London, April 14.—South of the Tigris river, in Mesopotamia, the Turks have been driven back three miles, it was announced today by the British War Office. The forces that attacked the Turks are trying to cut through to relieve General Townshend's army, which is bottled up in and at Amara.

The text of the War Office report follows:

"General Sir Percy Lake reports that on April 12, south of the Tigris, we forced back the enemy's lines from one and one-half to three miles. We crossed an inundated belt containing deep cuts of from 500 to 1,200 yards extending from the Tigris to Ummel-bishel Marsh. On the left bank of the Tigris water from the marshes was driven by a gale into the enemy's trenches at Sugry Vat. The enemy was compelled to seek refuge in a new position, being heavily shelled while doing so."

Big Guns Open Battle on the Grecian Front

Salonica, April 14.—A violent artillery duel is in progress between the Anglo-French and German forces on the Doiran-Dirgeli front. Both armies are using their heavy guns. Thus far there has been no infantry engagements, but it is believed here that the bombardment is the beginning of a general battle.

Twenty French aeroplanes this morning bombarded German encampments and emplacements for heavy artillery at Bogoroditza. The entire squadron returned undamaged, though subjected to a heavy fire. Bogoroditza is east of the Vardar River and about a mile north of the Greco-Serb frontier.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMANS IN ATTEMPT TO TAKE HILL 304

By International News Service.

London, April 14.—Following a violent bombardment of the French position on Hill 304, northwest of Verdun, in which gas shells were used, the Germans attacked last night, but were repulsed.

The French War Office in an official communique today announced the breakdown of the German attack on Hill 304 and announced also that the Germans had been shelling the French positions east of the Meuse.

A heavy cannonade has been directed against the French position in Vaux-Hardemont front, and also south of Douaumont.

Hundreds of German guns were concentrated against a comparatively short front, pouring an unending storm of shells into the French positions.

FIRST BATTLE ENDED.

After an unprecedented struggle in forty-two days the first battle of Verdun may be considered ended, in the opinion of French military critics. The latest important assault by the Germans was made on Wednesday, although the French communique mentioned an attack last night in the region of Hill 304.

The Germans attribute the lull up in infantry fighting to the weather, the atmosphere being so foggy that real artillery work was almost impossible.

French, however, declare that the force of the German onslaught has fully died out and that the foggy condition of the weather has nothing to do with the cessation of general activity.

It is a certainty that another great battle will develop at Verdun. Heavy artillery is active, both north and east of the fortress. The entire Meuse front is being heavily shelled and on the Vaux-Douaumont front.

DENSE SMOKE CURTAIN.

The Germans fired a great many shells containing gases, and these fumes, mingling with the murky atmosphere, formed curious fog, which hung like a curtain above the lines.

Heavy artillery is active both northwest and southeast of the fortress.

The Petit Parisien is authority for the statement that seven new German divisions arrived at the Verdun front last Sunday. Five of these divisions (20,000) were immediately thrown into the fray while the other two were used later, but the last result of all these efforts was the capture of six yards of trenches on the north slope of Dead Man's Hill at the cost of 30,000 men.

The Echo de Paris says that troops which were formerly facing the British have been sent to Verdun.

"It is certain," says this paper, "that the Germans are now weakening other parts of their line to strengthen their front at Verdun."

The Kaiser, in addressing the Brandenburgers is quoted as saying that the treaty of peace in this war would be signed in Verdun.

"On the left bank of the Meuse a violent bombardment was directed during the night against our first lines, west of Hill No. 304.

"On the right bank the Germans yesterday evening launched a small attack upon our positions to the southeast of Douaumont which was completely pulsed. The night was remarkable by calm except for a rather severe bombardment of the region south of Haudremont.

"In the Woevre region there was no artillery duel in the action of Moulainville.

"There was important transport on the east of the Hatt."

REPORT RUSSIAN DEFEAT IN PERSIA

By International News Service.

Constantinople, April 14.—The Turkish War Office issued the following report today: "The situation on the front from Mesopotamia is unchanged. In Persia Russian troops attacked Ispahan during the night of April 12 and 13, but were repulsed."

Germany Limits Use of Sugar to 2 Lbs. Monthly

Berlin, April 14 (wireless via Sayville).—The government has fixed the allowance of sugar at two pounds a month for each person. It has been further announced that all the German Princes and Princesses of the reigning houses have declared their readiness to participate in the same as other citizens in the payment of war bread tickets. This announcement was made in the Reichstag by the Imperial Secretary of the Treasury, Dr. Helfferich.

Ever Notice How SILKY the Outside of HAY Is?

Some keen individual did and, like Isaac Newton, started thinking. It was not long before a new "silk" made its appearance, but it was a long time before it was known how it was made.

Even now, few people know that the "fibre-silk" that costs so little and wears so well is made from the shiny part of Belgian and English hay, plated on to lisle (like gold plate).

Men's Crest Brand Art-Fibre Silk Stockings are but 25c.

They look like silk; they wear well. They have lisle ribbed top with a special transfer from the silk that prevents ripping.

They are extra spliced and reinforced to give wear at the right places.

For Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

"Here in America there is much suffering from catarrh and head noises. American people would do well to consider the method employed by the English to combat this insidious disease. Everyone knows how damp the English climate is and how dampness affects those suffering from catarrh. In England they treat catarrhal deafness and head noises as a constitutional disease and use an internal remedy for it that is really very efficacious.

Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they had their hearing restored by this English treatment to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven and eight inches away from either ear.

Those of us who know someone who is troubled with catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some one many dreary months from total deafness. The prescription can easily be prepared at home for about 75c and is made as follows:

From your druggist obtain 1 oz. of Parmint (Double strength), shake well in a bottle. Take this home, and add to it 1 pint of water and 4 tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take a dessertspoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to produce by local action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus relieve the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are usually remarkably quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease.—Advertisement.

REPORT AGAINST ABOLITION OF DEATH CHAIR

Governor McCall's recommendation for the abolition of capital punishment was rejected today by the Judiciary Committee of the Legislature.

Meeting in executive session, the committee voted to report "No legislation necessary" on the Governor's special message.

The committee is taking pulled for dissenters from that adverse action. Representative Vincent Brogna of Boston Democrat, has already dissented. It is intimated that Representative Essex S. Abbott of Haverhill will at least reserve right to dissent.

Senator Robert M. Washburn of Worcester, Republican, who is absent because of illness, will be allowed to dissent in writing.

A similarly adverse action on the abolition of capital punishment had been taken by this committee early in the session. Bills seeking to abolish the death chair had been reported "leave to withdraw," and those reports had been sustained after brief struggles in both the House and Senate.

While Governor McCall today declined to comment on the action of the committee it is expected that a more serious fight will be made on his message in both branches.

Representative Hill of Cambridge, who conducted the previously successful fight in the House to prepared to offer a new bill to restore the right to declare for or against the electric chair.

THREE GIVEN JAIL TERMS IN DRUG CASE

Leo Romano of East Seventh street, South Boston, in the South Boston District Court today, charged with unlawfully having morphine in his possession, was found guilty and sentenced to four months in the House of Correction. His wife and a lodger, Harry Baker, were found guilty of being present where morphine was found and were sentenced to two months each. All appealed.

"Life-Saver" Is Charged with Illegal Practice

The police of the Lawrence authorities continuing their crusade against fortune tellers and those practicing medicine without being registered had Frank Kelly arrested in Municipal Court today, charged with violating the law regulating the practice of medicine. Kelly pleaded not guilty and his case was continued until Wednesday.

Acting under instructions from Sergeant Anderson, Patrolmen Morrissey and McHugh went to Kelly's office in Harrison avenue. They say they told him they were ill and that he prescribed medicine for each of them.

Sergeant Anderson said that Lowell declares he was visited by a spirit ten years ago which told him to become a physician. He has been advertising, according to the police as the "Great Wonderful Life Saver."

THREE CLAIMED BY SUDDEN DEATH

Three persons were found dead in the city today within one hour and twenty-five minutes. At 8 a. m. Peter P. Slack, seventy-four, was found dead by his wife in their apartment at No. 215 Columbus avenue, South End. Mrs. Cora Broad, fifty-two, of No. 135 West Canton street, South End, was found dead on the floor of her room by her son, Alexander Kelley, at 9:25 a. m. At 8:55 a. m., Charles O'Connell, fifty-one, of No. 1187 Tremont street, Roxbury, was found dead in bed. The deaths were the result of natural causes.

POSTPONE INQUIRY ON VOTE FRAUDS

An inquest into alleged illegal registration and voting at the last election in Chelsea, for which twenty witnesses were summoned to appear today before Judge Bosson in the Chelsea court, was postponed Thursday next after attorneys for Alderman Hugh McLaughlin, one of the witnesses, announced they were appealing to the Supreme Court on the question of the constitutionality of the act permitting the municipal court judge to hold the inquest.

DECLARES CITY SAVED MONEY BY OUSTING 3

The city of Boston saved $26,910 by the reorganization of the Public Works Department, according to testimony of Chief Clerk Bernard E. Kelly in the Dorchester court today.

Kelly was the first witness on the stand in the trial of the case of Commissioner of Public Works Frank A. McInnis, Storrs L. Barrows and Miss W. Robinson for reinstatement to positions in the Public Works Department, from which they were discharged and the positions abolished.

Mr. Barrows was superintendent of water and sewers, Burkes superintendent of streets in the paving department and Robinson superintendent of public drainage. They alleged that they were discharged without a hearing as provided for under the civil service rules.

Kelly produced payrolls of the department for two months prior to the men's discharge and two months after. In December the payroll stood $9,050.50; January, $8,376.55; February, $8,222.50, and March, $8,213.64. The witness testified that under the old system experts were called in, to whom $11,559.89 was paid. The payments were made to Goldsmith, $14,-416.10; Conrad, $4,571, and Bischoff, $2,200. He also testified that under McInnis expenditures for $34,436, and Supt. Peter J. Foley for discharge.

Edgar R. Ivory, a civil engineer in the service, who has been employed by the city for thirty-six years, admitted that Mr. Murphy had been appointed over his head, and his own salary reduced from $3,500 to $3,000. He said he was accustomed to conferring frequently with Mr. McInnis and that he kept out of politics as much as possible.

ELEVEN DRIVERS OF AUTOS PAY FINES

Suffolk County was enriched to the extent of $95, in fines imposed on eleven men for violation of the automobile regulations in Dorchester today. The case of two of the thirteen who appeared in the Dorchester court were placed in file.

In the same court Max Sivil of Woodrow avenue, was fined $5 for selling bread on Sunday.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

GAS COMPANY'S ATTITUDE ON SLIDING SCALE IS EXPLAINED

E. N. Wrightington, second vice-president of the Bosgen Consolidated Gas Company, sent the AMERICAN today the following letter stating the attitude of the company in the matter of the sliding scale hearings recently held at the State House:

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

Owing, doubtless, to the fact that the presentation of our side of the case at the sliding scale hearings has been offered late in the morning, the reports in the AMERICAN have not, I think, contained an adequate statement of our position.

Our position is about as follows:

The board has made a very thorough investigation of the sliding scale on its own account and has been assisted by expert auditors and engineers. The board has held nine or ten hearings and invited suggestion and criticism on the part of gas men, its officials and consumers, but not a single customer of the company has appeared at any of the hearings to protest against the system or to demand or suggest any change.

ADEQUATE SERVICE.

The board has stated that the "service is adequate and satisfactory" and has frankly complimented the company on its "courteous treatment of the customers and their difficulties and grievances," but upon the energy and enterprise of the management resulting in "a substantial increase in total output, in the number of customers and in the amount of gas sold per mile of main," upon its treatment of employes, accident prevention work, etc.

The auditor of the board who examined the company's books stated that "the accounts of the company truly reflect the facts and that the methods of accounting used are adequate therefor and that the books of account are well and accurately kept."

The board has called attention to the reductions in the price which were made by the company and has stated that these reductions undoubtedly had an influence upon subordinate bodies which were later made by the other companies. The board has criticised the alleged failure of the company to provide adequately for depreciation, but the only alternative would have been higher prices rather than lower.

The only serious criticism which the board has made is that the fact that the company is owned by the Massachusetts Gas Companies has not permitted a fair trial of the system, and the board states in substance that the sliding scale should be repealed because the incentive to reduce prices in order to secure increased dividends may be diminished on account of the relations of the Consolidated Company with other companies owned by the same management which may permit profits to the company, exclusive of the dividends paid by the Consolidated Company.

POINTS OUT ADVANTAGES.

There are several positive advantages to the Consolidated Company resulting from its relations with the other companies, which are sufficient reasons for not divorcing the Consolidated Company from the control of the Massachusetts Gas Companies.

In the first place, there is not, in the sense intimated by General Schaff, fifty-nine million dollars "hanging over" the consumers of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. The business of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company is only a part of the business transacted by the Massachusetts Gas Companies and its subsidiary companies.

The amount which the Boston company pays for gas is only 25 per cent. of the business done by the New England Gas & Coke Company and the amount paid by the Boston company for coal and coke to the New England Coal & Coke Company is only 1.2 per cent. of the total business done by that company. The income of the Massachusetts Gas Companies derived from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company is about one-half of the total income, including that derived from the commercial companies.

There is a very large investment outside of the property of the gas companies. The Massachusetts Gas Companies through its subsidiary companies owns a large fleet of six steamers, about fifty tugs, barges and lighters, over 800 cars and locomotives; also owns the coke oven plant at Everett and the largest coal-discharging plant on the coast. The company also owns coal mines in West Virginia.

The capital stock of the Boston Consolidated Company is fixed by law and the dividends of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company are fixed by the sliding scale Act, and have no relation whatever to the capitalization or the earnings of the Massachusetts Gas Companies except through the dividends permitted under the sliding scale.

MEANS NEW PLANT.

If the Boston Consolidated Gas Company should be divorced from the ownership of the Massachusetts Gas Companies and from its relations with the New England Gas and Coke Company, it would necessitate the building of a new coal gas plant by the Consolidated company at a cost of six or seven million dollars, thus causing an unnecessary duplicate investment in this territory. It would also result in the production by the Boston company of an additional large amount of residual coke absorbed by an already saturated market.

The New England Gas and Coke Company could not, as a going concern, supply any gas to the Consolidated Company because its principal business is the sale of coke, and for using the present kind of coal which makes a different kind of coke and produces more coke gas, it could get into a market in the disposal of its coke which is not reached today and would have very little, if any, excess gas to dispose of beyond what would be necessary to heat the ovens.

A divorce of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company from these relations in our opinion would be a great misfortune to that company and to its customers, but even if this be not the case it should be borne in mind that the repeal of the sliding scale would not remedy unfavorable conditions if such existed.

AN AMPLE SAFEGUARD.

If the sliding scale is abandoned the relations of the Consolidated company with these other companies would remain just the same and the price paid for purchased gas would have to be approved by the board under exactly the same conditions as it is now under the sliding scale. The continuance or discontinuance of the sliding scale will not affect these relations, and if there is objection on the part of the consumers to the holding company the repeal of the sliding scale will not remove that objection.

As Mr. Anderson has stated to the committee, the objections were well known to the advocates of the sliding scale and to the legislature at the time of its adoption, but it was believed that the provisions of the law then existing, which required that the principal transaction between the companies, namely, the purchase of gas, should be approved by the commission, would be an ample safeguard to the public.

BIG MEETING OF COTTON MEN HERE APRIL 26

The National Association of Cotton Manufacturers will assemble at the Copley Plaza Hotel on Wednesday, April 26, for what promises to be one of the most interesting and important annual meetings in the Association's history. The program calls for a two-days' session. It will be the one hundredth meeting of the organization and will be marked by a jubilee banquet on the evening of the opening day.

The close relation between international and textile affairs regarding imports, finances, raw material, dyes and the like, is indicated by some of the subjects announced for discussion.

After Albert Green Duncan of Brookline and Boston, president of the association, calls the meeting to order at 10.30 a. m. on April 26, he will introduce as the first speaker President Frank A. Vanderlip of the National City Bank of New York, who will talk on "Foreign Commerce in American Textiles."

The rest of the morning will be given to the dye problem. Edward S. Chapin of Boston will speak on "Reconstruction in Dyeing," Leonard W. Cronkhite of Boston on "Home Reasons of the Dyestuff Situation," and Herman A. Metz on "The Dyestuff Situation, Present and Future."

The jubilee banquet will be held in the Copley Plaza at 6.30 that evening. Chairman Joseph E. Davies of the Federal Trade Commission will speak on "The Work of the Federal Trade Commission," President David P. Kingsley of the New York Life Insurance Company will speak on "The Trilogy of Democracy."

TAKE ONE-EYED MAN ENTERING STORE

A one-eyed man arrested early today at the point of revolvers by Special Officer Murray of the Fish Pier and Sergeant Murphy and Patrolman Callahan of South Boston, just as he was half-way through a window of the Fish Pier Wine Store, was identified at headquarters as Jeremiah Toomey, once a member of the Old Howard gang of safe burglars. Toomey has served two terms for Boston burglaries. He says he lost one eye some years ago while on a visit to New York. The police believed that it was blown out when he was exploding a safe.

MANY SWISS DIE IN AN AVALANCHE

By International News Service.

Rome, April 14.—Many persons are killed and injured by an avalanche in the Swiss canton of Valais. The avalanche obstructed Simplon Pass.

The investigation made by the board shows that none of the transactions between the companies since the adoption of the sliding scale has resulted to the disadvantage of the Consolidated company.

In the absence of any indication that in the case of their acquisition and the diversion of profits from dividends for the benefit of the Massachusetts Companies there was any protest against the system on the part of either the public or the customers of the company, the Legislature should not, in our opinion, repeal the Sliding Scale Act.

Very truly yours,
E. N. WRIGHTINGTON,
Second Vice-President.

Three Families Flee Fire in East Boston

Three families were forced to flee in the street in their night clothes early today when fire, caused by the careless use of matches, partially destroyed the top floor of the three-story wooden tenement house at No. 111 Porter street, East Boston.

The top apartment was occupied by the family of Angelo Archangelo. Two other families live on the floors below. Members of the Archangelo family were forced to hurry to the street to escape the rush of the flames.

Smoke poured out of the burning flat and filled the hallways and stairways of the two apartments below, arousing the occupants. The damage to the building, according to the police, amounts to $200.

BOSTON COLLEGE SPEAKING CONTEST

The winning have been chosen to take part in the annual public oratorical contest of Boston College. Francis J. Maloney, '18, of Somerville; John W. Pilsbury, of Plymouth; William L. Carney, '18, of Malden; Joseph C. Scollen, '18, of Dorchester; Warren J. Dear, '18, of Newton; Frederick J. Gallo, '18, of Dorchester; George C. Murray, '17, of Natick. A purse of fifty dollars will be awarded the winner.

TWO WOMEN ON MISSING CRAFT

Washington, April 14.—A small fishing boat carrying two women is believed lost off the Maine coast. The Navy Department today received a message from the Cranberry coast guard station stating a coast guard cutter had been unable to locate the boat, which was reported in distress off Baker's Island.

AUTHOR CHILD DIVORCED BY SUFFRAGIST

Boston literary and suffrage circles learned with keen interest today the news of the divorce of Mrs. Elizabeth Scott Child, well known suffragist, from her author-husband, Richard Washburn Child, both of Boston. An interlocutory decree was granted by Justice Daniel F. Cohalan of the Supreme Court of New York last week.

Outside of the witnesses, the principals and a few friends, the granting of the decree was kept quiet, and came as a surprise to the many Boston friends of the couple.

The couple were married in New York city at the Little Church Around the Corner. The honeymoon was spent in Europe. They lived for awhile in New York, and then moved to Boston, where they maintained a fine old colonial mansion on Acorn street, in the Back Bay. They spend their summers at Cohasset, at "The Churches."

By the provisions of the decree, the famous author is forbidden to remarry during the life of Mrs. Child. Mrs. Child intends to adopt as her own the little girl who lived with them when they resided in Boston.

The divorce was granted to Mrs. Child by Justice Cohalan, who is noted for his opposition to "easy" divorces. In her petition, Mrs. Child mentioned only one instance of alleged improper conduct on the part of her husband. This was alleged to have taken place on January 25, at the Hotel Wallack in New York city, where Child is said to have gone with an "unknown woman."

MOTHER BURNED SAVING HER SON

Brockton, April 14.—Playing with matches in the home today, three-year-old David Brown set fire to his night shirt and was enveloped in flames when his mother, Mrs. Phyllis Brown, rushed into the room. With her own garments and suffering severe burns, she extinguished the little boy's burning clothes. She suffered more than he, her hair, hands and arms being scorched. He was only slightly burned about the face.

MURLIN MAY QUIT BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Wilbraham, April 14.—President Samuel H. Mathis of Boston University may soon relinquish his duties at the college in order to become secretary of the Methodist board of Education, according to rumor circulated at the New England conference here.

The appointment will come at the general Methodist conference in Saratoga Springs next month. Dr. Thomas Nicholson at that time will give up the secretaryship to become a bishop.

Cambridge Lady Says Plant Juice Gave Her God's Greatest Gift —Health.

One of the most interesting statements made concerning that much-discussed preparation, Plant Juice, which is now being introduced in Boston, is that of Mrs. Martha Liddell, who lives at No. 35 Tremont

MRS. MARTHA LIDDELL.

Street, Cambridge, Mass., where she is very popular socially, as well as having many friends in this city. She said:

"For over six years I suffered with indigestion and dyspepsia and all the food I ate would ferment in my stomach and form gas. I suffered intense agony after eating. I was short of breath and sometimes would almost choke, and was so dizzy that I was afraid to go out on the street, for fear of ill falling; had heartburn, pains in my back, could not sleep at night, and got so weak that I could not get around to do my housework. I enjoyed nothing and life seemed a burden to me. I had taken all kinds of medicine without any benefit, and was told that I had gastritis. I had awful pains in the back and top of my head and got weaker every day until I thought I had not long to live. I heard of Plant Juice and since I have taken two bottles, I can truthfully say, for the benefit of other sufferers, that it has entirely cured me. I can eat anything I want and digest it, sleep well and have no more aches or pains. I am glad to make this public statement out of gratitude I feel for what Plant Juice did for me."

Such words as these and those of many others which have been printed, have a wide influence, for they come from persons of standing and integrity, who have given Plant Juice a fair trial and have been benefited thereby.

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Co.'s store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

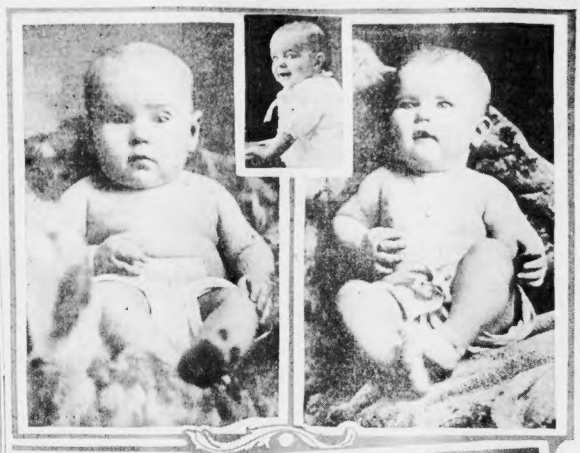
GIVE BABY A CHANCE IN THE GREAT CONTEST

What makes a perfect baby? is now a vital subject for conversation among hundreds and thousands of parents in Greater Boston.

Is it looks? Is it strength? Is it intelligence? Is it good nature? Is it weight, height?

The "Best Baby" editor has no authority to answer this all-important question in connection with the Best Baby contest. Its may suggest, however, that no standard characteristic will win a prize for perfection without other good qualities to go with it.

It may be that a perfect baby physically will lose a prize because he is bad tempered and a bountiful baby may not have good form or power of resistence. A baby with much hair may have no teeth. The judges will decide all these questions, but one important thing for every parent to remember is that no parent will have any chance whatsoever of winning a prize who fails to register her baby on the blank clipped from the daily AMERICAN.



THE PRIZES TO THE BRAVE.

Some parents think they are too modest to send in their baby's measurements and photograph. They apologize and say:

"Our baby suits us even if we think it could hardly win a prize."

Of course, none but the brave deserve the prizes, and your baby may win over the very baby which you think is far ahead of yours.

There are already that are still slow in entering their full proportion of babies. More babies should be entered from the North, West and South Ends and from South Boston. There must be 100 perfect babies in Back Bay. Where are the ideal babies of Dorchester Heights where young patriots should be reared in the shade of trees? Why should South Boston and Dorchester babies lose out from getting medals when Lynn babies and Somerville babies are registered in such numbers?

Baby entries are too few from Cambridge also.

"Mrs. A. M." of Woburn asks:

Would like you to send me information in regard to teething; this is baby's second summer, and his teeth are not yet cut through." He has been brought up on cow's milk. Baby will be a year old April 19th.

Dr. Mary T. Moore answers:

In the first place, to wear baby's milk should be added cooked cereals as oatmeal, farina, cream of wheat. These may be given in the form of a jelly, or made as a gruel and given with equal parts of milk. Barley flour made into jelly may also be given.

CEREALS WELL COOKED.

Cereals should be perfectly cooked in a double boiler, at least, three hours.

Fruit juices should have found a place in your baby's daily menu ere this. The salts found in fruit juices are especially beneficial for the teeth and bones.

Zwieback, graham crackers, milk crackers and biscuits are very readily digested by an ordinary child of this age.

To those above mentioned, various articles of diet may be gradually added, such as baked potatoes.

After a child first shows signs of teething, drooling and biting, the gums should be rubbed twice a day with a solution of boracic acid. This should be kept up until the child is two years of age.

ASSIST THE TEETH.

When teeth are near the gums friction over teeth gently made with Turkish towel wound over tip of index finger very frequently affords relief and assists the tooth in coming through. It may be necessary to lance the gums, but this is the exception rather than the rule.

If, as frequently happens, the baby feels restless, has a slight rise in temperature and temporary digestive disturbances with the eruption of the teeth, lessen the baby's diet. This is important because baby's digestive apparatus is small.

If whether it warm do not have him dressed too warmly. Pay special attention to the conditions of the stomach and bowels. If these measures should alone are adhered to very little trouble will be found.

Dr. Moore advises "Mrs. A. P." of West Everett to see her family physician at once.

Dr. Gulick to Lecture.

Dr. Sidney L. Gulick will address a public meeting under the auspices of the Massachusetts Peace Society Sunday afternoon in Ford Hall, on "America's Asiatic Problem."

Among the flood of entries in the Best Baby Contest are (at top, left to right), Earl I. Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Morse of Teele avenue, Somerville; and Catherine Alice McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick F. McCarthy of Lynn; (insert at top), G. Hamilton Merrifield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Merrifield of Medford; and (at bottom), Louisa Pisco Pausata, daughter of J. P. Pausata of Revere street, Revere.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poison gas toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headachey, its your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes, all denote liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels, the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it cannot salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fine day in and day out.—Advertisement.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative. They act on the liver in almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to furnish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to use calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "biliness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "dopey." Take how they relieve clouded brain and how they "clear up" the system. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

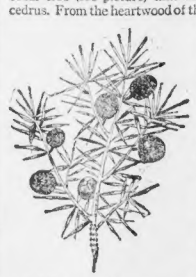
A REMARKABLE TREE

The Fluid Distilled From It Heals and Soothes the Skin

Along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, on stony hillsides ana in waste places, grows a small, common prickly cedar tree (see picture) that scientists call Juniperus Oxycedrus. From the heartwood of this tree is distilled a brownish liquid having a distinct odor somewhat resembling tar. For hundreds of years the peasants of Spain, France and Northern Africa have used this fluid to cure skin diseases both of man and of sheep, horses, and other domestic animals. In more recent times this fluid was given the name of Oil of Cade, and the Medical Profession throughout the world employed it in treating eczema and many other skin troubles. It possesses remarkable healing, soothing and curative properties when applied to the skin, and seems to have been intended by Nature for this one particular purpose. Oil of Cade, combined with other beneficial drugs, is used in making Cadum Ointment, the new skin remedy. It stops itching as soon as applied and begins the healing process immediately. Probably the brownish fluid from this remarkable tree is the very thing your skin requires to be made smooth and well. It you have eczema, pimples or skin irritations of any kind, get a 25c. box of Cadum Ointment from your druggist today, or send for free sample to the Omega Chemical Co., New York.



BILLY SUNDAY TABERNACLE BILL PASSED BY THE SENATE

The Billy Sunday Tabernacle bill was passed today by the State Senate.

The final victory for the Billy Sunday forces was won without the semblance of a fight. The opposing forces had been utterly routed in the bitter fight of yesterday.

The bill went through the Senate on the first reading of the Senate calendar without a word of debate and on a voice vote.

When the bill was reached, President Wells, following the parliamentary procedure, announced the title of the bill, and stated:

"The question is of passing the bill to be engrossed. Those in favor will say 'Aye.'"

There was a chorus of "Ayes."

"Those opposed will say 'No,'" President Wells continued.

There was a chorus of "Noes."

"The 'Ayes' have it," announced President Wells, and, as the opposing forces did not ask for a verification of the vote, he added, "The bill is passed to be engrossed."

Following the formal enactment in both branches, the Sunday Tabernacle bill will be sent to Governor McCall for his signature.

Governor McCall is expected to sign the bill, which permits of the construction of the big tabernacle for the revival meetings under certain exemptions from the rigid Boston building laws.

Asked if he was interested in the fate of the bill Governor McCall had said: "No, except that I want the people who go there to be reasonably safe."

The Senate galleries were filled again today by members of the Billy Sunday campaign committee and their friends.

Victory for the bill was assured early in the day by the announcement of Senator James P. Timilty of Roxbury that the opposing forces would abandon the fight.

This announcement was authoritative. Timilty was foremost in the fight to prevent the erection of the tabernacle in his district under any exemption from the building laws.

"Will you resume your fight today?" Timilty was asked, just before the Senate convened.

"No," he replied, "we are done."

Asked to explain the cause for this decision to suspend hostilities, Senator Timilty replied: "The other side has got the votes." The Roxbury senator has never been accused of hitting his head against a stonewall.

Although once defeated in the Senate by a vote of 20 to 18, the Billy Sunday bill was revived yesterday and was advanced to a third reading by a vote of 18 to 12.

The actual vote for the bill with all members present and voting would be 22 to 18, it was admitted today.

Senators Hull of Great Barrington, Mason of Medway, Hobbs of Worcester and Hays of Brighton, Republicans, who previously voted against the bill, changed their votes and supported the measure in the show-down.

The bill has already passed the House of Representatives.

Under the existing building laws of Boston a building the size of the Sunday Tabernacle would have to be of brick walls and steel sustaining posts. Mr. Sunday wants a building with wooden walls and wooden posts, because of the better acoustic advantages.

Sunday had intimated that if the Legislature insisted upon full requirement with the building laws he would not come to Boston.

The Senate was informed today that the New England conference of Methodist churches, now in session at Worcester, had adopted resolution favoring the tabernacle bill.

The proposed tabernacle will accommodate at least 10,000 people.

The bill as passed is as follows:

The Boston Sunday Evangelistic Committee, Incorporated, an association duly incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth, is hereby authorized to construct and use for religious purposes a building at No. 350 Huntington avenue in the city of Boston, between Gainsboro street and Bryant street, with a hall or assembly room to contain an audience of not less than 10,000 persons.

The said building shall conform in respect to entrances, exits, passageways, lighting, seating and choir gallery with the provisions of existing law, but shall in other respects be of third-class construction and may be built upon temporary foundations satisfactory to the building commissioner of the city of Boston; and provided, also, that the corporation shall give to the building commissioner a bond of some reputable surety company in the sum of $5,000, conditioned upon the taking down and removal of said building, without expense to the city of Boston, not later than eight months after the completion of the said building.

"Billy" Sunday telegraphed to the Sunday headquarters at Tremont Temple today that he was delighted with the action of the Senate in reconsidering its adverse action on the tabernacle bill.

The telegram flashed from Baltimore was addressed to Allan C. Emery, chairman of the Boston Sunday Evangelistic Committee. It read:

"Mighty glad of the action of the Legislature. Hope I can have the chance to give them the 'glad hand' when I get to Massachusetts. Congratulations. Hurrah for the Boston campaign.

"WILLIAM A. SUNDAY."

Reliability

One of the greatest factors in this Live Store's Success

It's worth a whole lot to know that the store you're dealing with is reliable—that it keeps its printed promises—that it gives no word it will not stand back of that it offers no merchandise it cannot recommend whole-heartedly.

That this is such a store has fully as much to do with our unprecedented success as has our greater value-giving. Men have learned that they can depend upon our word and our merchandise. And they reward us with their confidence and their business.

We safeguard our customers' interests at every point. We take extraordinary care in the selection of our stock and equal care in fitting and suiting the purchaser. There's perfect safety as well as positive saving for every man and boy who comes here for clothes.

Kuppenheimer Clothes

at the special Kennedy prices of $18, $20, $22.50, $25 to $35

It's because of merit—and merit alone—that we feature the product of the great House of Kuppenheimer. These fine garments measure up flush with our established ideals of the kind of clothes good enough for us to recommend and for our customers to buy and wear. They give the full measure of satisfaction that our policy demands and that you have the right to expect and that we guarantee you will receive. The good looks and graceful "set" of Kuppenheimer Suits are as permanent as the virgin wool fabrics from which they are made. There's a style, a fit and a fabric here for every man and young man in Greater Boston.

JAMERSON CLOTHES SHOPS

Something New to Boston!

The Jamerson Clothes Shops of Philadelphia, St. Louis and Kansas City Announce the Opening tomorrow of their new Boston shop, on the third floor of the Dexter Bldg., 453 Washington St., and present to New England men their

New Plan of Clothes Selling

And the Reason for Its Existence:

The Old Way means an enormous overhead expense, high, first-floor rents; credit accounts, with a corps of collectors, bookkeepers and the inevitable bad debts; expensive free deliveries with automobiles, wagons and delivery boys; high-salaried floor walkers and window trimmers; expensive equipment and fixtures; all these and a score of other expenses cost enormous sums which add nothing to the style and service of clothes, and you pay the bill.

The New Plan eliminates every possible operating expense. It means low rents, as our stores are never on the first floor; no charge accounts, no bad debts, no free deliveries, no high-salaried floor-walkers or window dressers, no early season high prices to cover later reductions, no extravagant organization or expensive equipment. All this results in an enormous saving, which enables us to give $18, $20 and $25 quality for one fixed price, $15. You save the difference.

Two years ago we began business with the smallest clothes shop in St. Louis. Today we occupy nearly the entire second floor of the big Carleton Building there. In these two years we have grown into a chain of Jamerson Clothes Shops—with shops in four cities and of national importance. We occupy only upstairs locations—and with our new plan of clothes-selling make it possible for you to save from $5 to $10.

Tired, Aching Feet.

In many thousands of homes Minard's Liniment is used often as a sure, quick, effective remedy for sore, tired, aching feet. It is very reliable, brings instant relief and helps the blood circulate, so quickly drives away pain. It cannot burn or blister and does not stain skin or clothing. It is a dependable, creamy liniment for many uses in the home and is sold by druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

WHY BE ARMORED?

The anti-preparedness crowd, possibly with the best intentions in the world, has been parading in our midst a restoration of a dinosaur, or an ichthyosaur, or a whitehsaur, or a whatchsaur, or some such prehistoric saurian insect, their purpose being to demonstrate to the common people that an animal or a nation which protects itself by the use of armor from outside attack is a sapheed and a nuisance, and his or her name should be a by-word and a hissing and a reproach in the months of our rising generation.

It has been suggested by disputatious that the gentlest adopt the dodo as their emblem. We are again their suggestion. The dodo, according to natural history, was not in the habit of squawking. Neither did it demand $250 a performance on the Chautauqua circuit. Nor did it dip its beak into the pork barrel.

We hereby suggest to the pacifists an animal which wears no armor and yet is feared and respected by man and beast. It lurks not on the highways and byways to collect unlawful toll from the unarmed. It attends to its own affairs and only asks to be let alone. Its only armor is its aggressive strength, and believe us or not, that strength is aggressive, insidious and lasting.

Ladies and gentlemen, allow me to introduce to you tonight one who wears no armor, but makes the belligerent world sit up and take notice—Mr. Polecat.

BUSINESS

"I want to meet Joe Stecher,"
The wrestler calmly said,
Quoth he "that boy will dump you,
And scissors you and thump you,
Go home, you goldarn chump, you,
And soak your addled head."

"I want to meet Joe Stecher,"
He answered soft and low,
"For if he deigns to meet me
And butter me and beat me
And mail me and mistreat me
I'll get a bunch of dough."

As we understand it, Jacques Tourneur would be a great first baseman if he could throw a ball.

It is a mystery to us that Ivy League football is popular. Unless Smith Tie as covers a law we don't find.

WHY BE ARMORED?

The anti-preparedness crowd, possibly with the best intentions in the world, has been parading in our midst a restoration of a dinosaur, or an ichthyosaur, or a whitehsaur, or a whatchsaur, or some such prehistoric saurian insect, their purpose being to demonstrate to the common people that an animal or a nation which protects itself by the use of armor from outside attack is a sapheed and a nuisance, and his or her name should be a by-word and a hissing and a reproach in the months of our rising generation.

It has been suggested by disputatious that the gentlest adopt the dodo as their emblem. We are again their suggestion. The dodo, according to natural history, was not in the habit of squawking. Neither did it demand $250 a performance on the Chautauqua circuit. Nor did it dip its beak into the pork barrel.

We hereby suggest to the pacifists an animal which wears no armor and yet is feared and respected by man and beast. It lurks not on the highways and byways to collect unlawful toll from the unarmed. It attends to its own affairs and only asks to be let alone. Its only armor is its aggressive strength, and believe us or not, that strength is aggressive, insidious and lasting.

Ladies and gentlemen, allow me to introduce to you tonight one who wears no armor, but makes the belligerent world sit up and take notice—Mr. Polecat.

BUSINESS

"I want to meet Joe Stecher,"
The wrestler calmly said,
Quoth he "that boy will dump you,
And scissors you and thump you,
Go home, you goldarn chump, you,
And soak your addled head."

"I want to meet Joe Stecher,"
He answered soft and low,
"For if he deigns to meet me
And butter me and beat me
And mail me and mistreat me
I'll get a bunch of dough."

As we understand it, Jacques Tourneur would be a great first baseman if he could throw a ball.

It is a mystery to us that Ivy League football is popular. Unless Smith Tie as covers a law we don't find.

MIDDIES SELECT GILMAN

Deposed Harvard Captain Will Coach Annapolis Linemen Under Ingram Next Fall.

J. ATHERTON GILMAN, JR., Harvard's one time 1916 football captain and star tackle, who withdrew from college several weeks ago, is to act as line coach at Annapolis next Fall

Gilman will take up his duties with the Middies August 15, when he will report and spend a portion of his time drilling the rookies before the varsity squads report for work.

He will work under Lieutenant Jonas Ingram, Annapolis head coach, who also was instrumental in getting "Tack" Hardwick, a Harvard 1914 star, to coach the Naval Academy backs last Fall.

If Gilman can teach football all he himself knows it and has played it he will build up a flash line for Annapolis that will cause the West Pointers trouble when the Navy and Army elevens mingle in November.

Another Harvard man, who is going to coach next Fall, is Kenneth B. Parson, a fully tackle, and at present rowing No. 2 in the Harvard eight. Parson has virtually agreed to handle the football team at Lehigh College, succeeding "Tommy" Campbell, a former Crimson halfback. Campbell has been appointed director of athletics at the University of South Carolina.

JOE CURRY IS SHINING.

Coach Bill Sweeney is whipping the E. C. nine into shape for its Southern trip, which starts Sunday. Joe Curry, former Wellesley High star, bids fair landing a place on the hurling staff, while Donnelly continues showing up nicely behind the bat and is bound to be of big aid to Captain Joe Dee.

She Discusses the Call of the Small Town With the Head Barber

HOW TO WASH LACE

Of the utmost importance in the care of laces is the way in which they are cleansed.

Never rub them, but just dip them up and down in clean, lukewarm soapsuds, stretch to dry when wet and do not iron.

Why Lux is unequalled for washing lace

Do not rub soap directly on lace. It coarsens the mesh and often spoils the pattern. For the best results use a soap which dissolves instantly and entirely.

The moment hot water touches Lux, the flakes dissolve and the lather begins to spring up. Then add just enough cold water to make your lather lukewarm and you will have a bowlful of the soapiest lather, just the right temperature in which to wash lace.

So convenient to use

No bothersome cake to chip, no alkali to break and wear the delicate lace threads—the very essence of purity, and the richest, soapiest lather in a second to dissolve the dirt!

Lux is a new soap product—not a cake—not a chipped soap, but feathery, transparent flakes of wonderful soap.

Get a package today and see for yourself how different Lux not only looks, but is! Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Reactionary Legislators Now Seek to Abolish Direct Primaries

STILL in a hurry to make a record as the most reactionary Legislature in a half-decade, one of the legislative committees has now favorably reported a bill for abolishing the direct primaries and going back to the old tinkering, trading political convention for the nomination of all State officials except the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor.

These gentlemen on Beacon Hill seem not to understand that revolutions rarely go backward in human affairs. The direct primary has come to stay. It has its faults. A lot of cheap, immodest persons in both parties have started to use it as a means of obtaining publicity and of exploiting the capitalization of the great parties for their own personal benefit.

Having nothing to lose but everything to gain, even by defeat, being so utterly insignificant in the community that the very MENTION of their names in connection with the office is an honor of which an overwhelming defeat cannot deprive them, they have rushed brazenly into the direct primaries as candidates for positions far beyond their merits, experience or abilities. Too many of them have surprised themselves by not only obtaining the notoriety which they sought in their mere candidacy, but by actually being nominated.

This, however, is not an inherent fault of the direct primaries. It is the fault of the law which has established direct primaries, through its failure to provide the people with a means of knowing who their candidates are. It is also due to the cowardice of alleged political leaders who fear to tell the truth about the unfitness of some of these candidates.

But when we get used to the direct primaries we shall accommodate ourselves to these difficulties and will supplement the law by providing for a public pamphlet which will contain the careers of the candidates, and those who are responsible for the good conduct of the parties will gradually assume the courage to tell the truth about their candidates.

We want no backward steps in our political machinery.

Turning Immigrants Into Americans

THE Boston public schools have undertaken to aid in the Americanization of our immigrants by holding evening sessions for their special benefit in the English High School.

This is a splendid undertaking. Our immigrants have been too long neglected by the country and we have thus lost a very large contribution which they could make to our American life and prosperity. We are just waking up to the necessity of lending a helping hand to these immigrants who intend to become American citizens.

There is indeed a general awakening on this subject. The Boston Chamber of Commerce has a committee now laboring to devise ways and means of acquainting our immigrants with American institutions and giving them American ideals and atmosphere and inspiring in them a sense of American patriotism.

This committee has called a conference of large employers of immigrant labor to discuss the situation and to co-operate in the work. Undoubtedly the public schools will be one of the most effective means of accomplishing this very much desired end.

An Unfair Question

WHATEVER may be said concerning the merits of the party enrollment law, repealed under Governor Walsh, those who are responsible for framing the question to be submitted to the people ought to be ashamed of themselves.

A more disingenuous, deceiving method of presenting the question to the voters could not easily be devised. The bill reported by the committee proposes to put upon the ballot for the decision of the voters the following question:

"Shall an act passed by the General Court in the year nineteen hundred and sixteen, entitled 'An act to prevent the voters of one political party from voting in the primaries of another political party' be accepted?"

If the voter knew nothing more about the bill of course he would vote in favor of it. If he were told that it compelled him to make known his party to the world in advance he might not think so much of it.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

Mr. Justice Barkis

HE says that as a Justice of the U. S. Soopreme Court
He's quite beyond political ambition;
He couldn't harbor hankerings of such a sordid sort,
They simply don't belong to High Position.
About this nomination as the party candidate,
He really hopes the leaders will not make it.
It pains him to consider it—it's most indelicate.
N. B. He doesn't say he will not take it.

HE waves away inquirers with a deprecating hand,
His attitude is haughtily unbending;
He will not talk preparedness or tell where he would stand
On any of the issues that are pending.
He sternly disapproves all talk of nominating him,
He wishes that his foolish friends would drop it.
It cuts him to the very soul—his words are gruffly grim.
N. B. He doesn't order any one to stop it.

EVER watch a hungry pickerel brush a tempting bait away,
With an air of most prodigious irritation?
Glaring at it through the water with a glare that seemed to say,
"Not for me! I'm wholly proof against temptation!"
Ever see the self-same pickerel, when you just about were sure
That his attitude had grown to be a habit,
Make a little swinging circle—edge up closer to the lure,
Turn a sudden double somersault, and grab it?

Have We Triumphed in Scarlet Fever?

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects

PART TWO

THE risk of one of the most serious after-effects of scarlet fever in childhood is nephritis, or acute inflammation of the kidneys. About the fourth or fifth day the examinations show traces of albumin in the urine, and this persists for several weeks, but usually with proper care clears up completely and leaves no trace of permanent trouble in the kidneys.

If, however, the proper precautions as to diet and treatment, to insure a free flow of urine, are not taken, or still more if the patient is allowed to get up too soon or go out and expose himself to the weather or go back to school before the albumin has entirely disappeared from his urine, then the inflammation may take on a serious form at once. The urine will be suppressed, severe headaches followed by dropsy will set in and the little patient will be thrown into a very alarming and dangerous condition. Fortunately, even where this complication occurs proper attention and care will usually clear up the kidney trouble and recovery will result.

But we are finding out to our dismay in recent years that this is by no means the last of the danger, but that the men and women who develop Bright's disease in middle or late life are often the very ones who suffered from an attack of inflammation of the kidneys after scarlet fever in childhood.

The other complication which needs to be guarded against in scarlet fever comes later still, and that is inflammation of the middle ear, with rupture of the drum and suppuration or discharge from the ear. This danger may be best prevented by careful attention to the throat and nose in the earlier stages of the disease by antiseptic washes, sprays, etc., also by watching the child carefully to see whether it shows any signs of earache, either by crying or putting its hand up to its ear, or burying that side of the head in the pillow.

Even after the inflammation has reached the ear prompt puncture of the drum, to let out the pus, followed by skilful antiseptic treatment, will both greatly diminish the suffering of the little one and make the recovery more rapid and complete. There is no danger of a permanent hole in the drum and chronic discharge from the ear after early puncture, as the drum heals up very readily in children. Indeed, our chief difficulty is to keep it open long enough to drain all the pus and germs completely out of the drum cavity.

Strange as it may seem in such exceedingly common and familiar diseases, we have until just recently been utterly baffled in our attempts to discover the germs that cause either measles, scarlet fever or whooping cough. Hence we had no vaccines or antitoxins against them.

But patience and hard work were rewarded finally, and about a year ago a bacillus of whooping cough was discovered by a French bacteriologist and its vaccine is giving encouraging results already. While within two weeks Mallory, of Harvard, has reported the discovery of the germ of scarlet fever. He is already working enthusiastically on both a vaccine to prevent and an antitoxin to cure the disease, and his high reputation renders his cheering announcement safe to build hopes upon of a real weapon against this second deadliest peril of childhood.

"WILL you please tell me what is meant by the fourth dimension, and do you believe in it?—High School Student."

YOUR head is the centre of the universe—for you. When you think of the space around you it seems to extend away in every direction. Since extension or stretching out is the basis of the idea involved in the word "dimension" you might, at first sight, say that there is an infinite number of dimensions, just as there is an infinite number of directions away from your head as a centre. But upon examining the matter a little closely you will find that all the directions, or radial lines, that start from you may be grouped under three heads, viz., up-and-down, fore-and-aft and right-and-left.

All the intermediate directions can be reduced to these three. If you combine the first and the second you have an up or a down slope; if the second and the third, you have a trend to right or to left, and so on.

When you apply this to any solid object outside yourself you will see that its fundamental dimensions are "length," "breadth," and "thickness," and you will also perceive that only these three, combined, are needed in order to produce an object of any form whatever. More than that, you will find that you cannot hold in your mind any clear conception of a "dimension" which is not definable in the terms of those three.

Take a book in your hand; you see that its extensions in space all fall under the three heads of length, breadth, and height, or thickness, or are made up by combination of the three. Our senses give us no knowledge of any other dimension.

Ordinary Mathematics Can Deal with Nothing More Than Three Dimensions

Now, notwithstanding all this, it is maintained by certain mathematicians that there may exist a fourth dimension which bears to the others a relation similar to that which they bear to one another. But ordinary mathematics, such as is employed by engineers, astronomers, physicists, and others who have to make calculations based upon the world and the universe as we see and know them, cannot deal with anything beyond the familiar three dimensions, although the first suggestion of a fourth dimension was derived from considerations based upon mathematical equations of the "fourth degree."

Even the idea of a fourth dimension can only be brought before the mind imaginatively, and by reasoning from analogy. The usual method is to suppose that our world were absolutely flat, extending only in two directions and having no thickness or no up-and-down whatever. Now, if you were an inhabitant of such a flat world, having no thickness yourself, of course you could not even think of "up and down," for that direction, or dimension, would lie entirely outside of your experience. It would appear ridiculous to you to speak of such a thing.

But then suppose that after all there were a third dimension (as we know there is), of whose existence you had, owing to the limitations of your senses, been ignorant, and suppose that something moving up or down, in the third dimension, should cross the plane of your flat world and thus come within the range of your perception. You would be amazed beyond expression. You would think that the appearance was supernatural. The apparition would seem to you to have been born out of nothing, and when it passed on across, or through, the plane of your two-dimensional world, it would certainly seem to you to have vanished into thin air.

Yet it would be just as real as yourself, and in no sense unnatural, or supernatural. Just so, say the advocates of the idea of a fourth dimension, we are unable to comprehend things which take place in a dimension above the three with which our senses are acquainted. If something moving in the fourth dimension passes through our three-dimensional world it seems to us incomprehensible and contrary to nature, although it is nothing of the kind.

Spiritualistic Phenomena Accounted for by Fourth Dimension of Space

A concrete illustration of this is that of a body passing through a solid wall, without obstruction, and without making a hole in the wall. "Impossible!" we say, but it is no more impossible than would be the passage of a body moving in the third dimension through a world in which there was no comprehension of more than two dimensions. In this way some people try to account for "spiritualistic" phenomena, which, they say, are mysterious to us simply because we cannot understand the fourth dimension of space in which they occur.

Of course, all reasoning is purely speculative. Nothing is absolutely proved by it. It is metaphysical and not scientific, and if the idea of the fourth dimension had not found its way into so many books and writings, as well as into the conversation of people, I would advise you to pay no attention to it. But it is one of the phenomena of our intensely curious age which all intelligent persons must take note of, and besides, we don't know to what the incessant progress of the human mind may ultimately lead.

Hard Lines

By William F. Kirk

IT must have been great
To possess an estate
In the days medieval and mellow.
It must have been fine
To cavort down the line
And frighten your foes with a bellow.
It must have been grand
To own acres of land
With a ditch called a moat all around it;
To mount a black steed
When some damsel in need
Was looking for succor and found it.

My blood often bounds
When I read about hounds
And falcons, and charges cavorting.
My muscles grow tense
And I lose all my sense
And find myself glaring and snorting.
But everything brave
Has gone to the grave.
The men of today slave like muckers,
And the maids we adore
Look for succor no more;
The darlings are looking for suckers!
